and Carmel Valley Outlook

OUR 68TH YEAR, NO. 22

May 27, 1982

WOODS SCHOOL students will celebrate the 32nd annual—and last—Maypole Festival at 10:30 a.m., May 28 on the kindergarten lawn. The festival is the last because Woods School will close at the end of the term. A wide variety of events are planned including music, a bake sale, Philippine bamboo pole dance and the maypole dance. Families are invited to attend and bring a picnic lunch. All activities are free and open to the public. The festival was started by the late Marjorie MacCausland, principal of the school in the 1950s. Woods School is on Dolores Street between First and Vista Avenues. More information is available from the school office at 624-1851.

Carmel library to close Sundays and most holidays as of July 1

By MICHAEL R. GARDNER

PATRONS OF Harrison Memorial Library will find the doors closed on Sundays and most holidays effective July 1.

Coupled with the previously-announced layoff of Children's Librarian Alice Terrell, the closings will save the library about $30,000, the board of trustees announced Tuesday.

The decisions were made with little comment and with only one member of the public in attendance.

Library Director Peg Richter presented the proposals to the board because she anticipates severe cuts in state and county funds for fiscal year 1982-83.

In her proposed $400,000 budget, Ms. Richter excluded any anticipated income from the state or county.

"I just don't think we will receive a substantial amount," she said. "We can add it later if it does come in, but I doubt it."

The big blow to the Carmel library budget is the anticipated $130,000 loss the county gives in reimbursements for providing services to non-city resident patrons.

Although the board of supervisors has not made a final decision, Ms. Richter said she does not believe that the county will provide a "substantial" amount of money.

Carmel City Administrator Doug Peterson is expected to meet with Monterey County Administrator Richard Andrews June 7 to discuss the issue.

Andrews has supported a county consultant's recommendation that supervisors reduce city reimbursements in an effort to upgrade library branches in rural areas of Monterey County.

Ms. Richter told trustees that 43 percent of the library patrons live outside the city limits. The city previously had announced that these county resident patrons would be charged a fee if supervisors do not provide adequate reimbursements.

The library budget was delivered another blow in the form of a letter from the California Library Services Board which indicated Carmel will probably not receive an estimated $30,000 from that agency.

The state library board said its budget has been trimmed by the state Department of Finance and it may not be able to provide transaction-based reimbursements this year.

Carmel received $30,000 in those reimbursements last fiscal year.

"All participants are strongly advised not to include TBR reimbursements in local estimates of anticipated revenues," the letter said. "We can not guarantee full payment in the coming year."

WITH THOSE TWO anticipated fund losses, the trustees said they were forced to try to "cut costs with the minimum loss in services."

The layoff of the children's librarian is expected to save approximately $25,000 and the Sunday library closings will save an additional $5,000. (See related story page 3.)

Closing on holidays will have very little effect on the budget except in utility savings, but will help services, Ms. Richter predicted.

Currently, employees who work holidays are given a compensatory day off at a later date. Without those

A training ground?

Dear Editor:

After traveling the Carmel Valley Road since 1952, I have reached the conclusion that the Monterey County, P. G. & E., and Cal-Am Water use this road as a training ground for all their new and inexperienced workers.

The road is constantly festooned with red cones and waving flags, large equipment that throws dirt and makes a lot of noise, and many men in all types of dress and undress, along with plenty of parked vehicles with men in hard hats on coffee breaks.

Each time a new crew comes to "work" on the road, they do their digging, swearing, and sweating, then leave the road much worse than it was before they came. They have chopped up the bike paths on both sides of the road so badly that the only way one could use these paths and survive would be on horseback.

Their patching and trench repairs, along with the way they "crown" the road, make me ever in debt to my loyal mechanic after a few trips to Monterey and back.

I realize these workers have to practice somewhere, but couldn't they find another road for a while to "repair"? Somedays I feel like a bowling ball and have trouble not aiming at all the "tenpins" along and in the road. Enough, already, fellows. Go somewhere else and play.

Leash 'not inhumane'

Dear Editor:

It is some years now since I was fortunate enough to live in Carmel; my heart remains there and I read the Pine Cone still.

Enclosed is a picture of my lovely 22-year-old cat. He lived with me on Lombard in San Francisco between Hyde and Leavenworth for many years, as well as elsewhere. He has never been outside in his life and will sit happily on the door sill while I go in and out.

If I wanted him to go into the garden with me I had to carry him in my arms and if I put him down, he scooted back to the door and waited for me to open it so he could go in. He always smells like a bouquet of flowers and of course he doesn't know what a flea is.

He thinks he's people and behaves that way. I did have a leash for him but he preferred to be carried so it was never used. It is not inhumane. Why have a house pet if he is not treated that way?

As for dogs - I thought all cities and towns had a leash law. I can't remember when San Francisco didn't have one - since the 30s at least.

Hope for Odellos

Dear Editor:

Is it possible that finally there is hope for the Odellos?

I have hardly ever met a family as hard working and at the same time as compassionate, God loving, and sensitive to the needs of others as these wonderful people. Many silent acts of kindness have been given freely to others.

So, in the name of all those who treasure their friendship and acquaintance with this old Carmel family, may I express my heartfelt thanks to the Odellos for their important part in our community and hope that a satisfactory agreement about the use of the eastern portion of the ranch will be reached very quickly.

'Sensitivity and insight'

Dear Editor:

During my tenure as executive director of Volunteers In Action, I had occasion to work with Judge William Burleigh on a court referral program, which provided persons convicted of minor misdemeanors the opportunity to perform community service work in lieu of jail time or fines.

Judge Burleigh showed sensitivity and insight in his choice of people sent through this program. He was totally supportive and understanding of the concept of human service and showed great respect for our workers.

I watched Judge Burleigh run his court at close hand. He showed efficiency, wisdom, and integrity. On June 8 I will vote for Judge William Burleigh because I know my tax dollar is wisely invested in him.

No children's librarian?

Dear Editor:

While tightening our budget belts in the city of Carmel, we have lost not some fat, but a vital organ of our community. Alice Terrell, the long-beloved children's librarian at Harrison Memorial Library, has been let go. We library patrons, young and old, didn't get to participate in the decision or get a chance to show the library board how much we need Alice.

By the time we heard she was leaving it was fait accompli. We need someone specialized in children's literature, someone with patience and imagination to help our kids develop a lifelong love of books. Let's get Alice back!

Problem with court

Dear Editor:

After reading your article on the "tough" judgeship contest there is one thing I don't understand. How can the incumbent name himself "law and order" and not have any law enforcement support. It seems to me, that if anyone is the law enforcement candidate it is Sillman, the Deputy District Attorney.

It appears he has all of the police agencies supporting him. Why? I don't think 15 out of 15 associations would support a challenger if there wasn't a problem with this court. I think I'll ask my local police officers their opinion and see what they say.

No funds for parks

Dear Editor:

The state does not have sufficient funding for children, old people, minorities, sick people, or the handicapped. But, if you follow Sam Farr's reasoning, it has money to burn for "parks," which none of the above will have money to visit.

We have a housing crisis of enormous proportion, and yet Sam Farr can find the nerve to ask this state for $4 million to condemn (i.e., destroy) homes of the innocent people who pay his salary, this without notifying the owners of the bill's introduction.

Drownings and harrowing rescues are taking place up and down this coast on state beaches that are neither adequately patrolled nor maintained—the most recent being at Partington Cove and the most heartbreaking at Monastery Beach. Yet Sam Farr introduces a bill that adds still more cliffs for the MAST helicopters to hover over (again at taxpayers' expense).

His bill AB2929 amounts to legislative malpractice. It shows no concern for the taxpayer, the property owner, or the needy. It is fraud to call condemnation of the homes of sculptor Marquette Staudé and novelist Rosemary Rogers "environmentalism." Sam hides behind pre-election leghold trap publicity, eliciting the grossest kind of sympathy from voters, while ensnaring helpless human beings. His dubiously designed bill affronts human dignity and the sanctity of one's home. It also puts coastal hostilities back to square one.

Let's make this the last of Sam Farr's Sacramento shopping sprees. Tell Santa Cruz friends, tell everyone—elect James Peter Cost in November.

CORRECTION

A typographical error in last week's letter from Lucille Chasoff distorted its meaning. The last paragraph should have read: "Since the road (Hatton Canyon Freeway) cannot be started for at least 10 years, the inflation factor could increase the cost to $30 million."

Judicial, district attorney campaigns raise no real issues

By ROBERT MISKIMON

TWO RACES on the June 8 ballot should be of particular interest to voters in Carmel and Carmel Valley. They are the contests for Monterey County district attorney and Monterey County Municipal Court judge.

Both elections have ties to the local community. Incumbent Municipal Court Judge William Burleigh is a former Carmel city attorney and a longtime Carmel resident; challenger Steve Sillman — a deputy district attorney — is a Carmel Valley resident.

And incumbent Dist. Atty. William Curtis, after 12 years in office, will face Carmel attorney Don Freeman in a fight for the position of chief law enforcement officer on June 8. Freeman lives in Carmel, maintains a Carmel law office and is attorney for the Carmel Sanitary District.

Although there are differences in the campaigns for the two separate offices, there are some striking similarities. In both instances, the challengers claim they can administer the offices to which they aspire more effectively than can the incumbents.

That, essentially, is the long and the short of both contests. There have been no accusations of official misconduct, incompetence, or moral turpitude in either of the races. There have, in fact, been no real issues raised.

Don Freeman has tantalizingly suggested that Bill Curtis has not been politically impartial in the administration of the DA's office — an assertion with which many voters would probably agree — but has failed adequately to develop that theme in his bid to unseat Curtis.

The voters are left to guess in both instances whether a challenger who talks tough and promises lots of hard work and efficiency can deliver anything better than can the incumbent.

The premise that the challenger may do a better job than the office-holder becomes even more shaky if one realizes that when an incumbent runs for re-election it can have quite a tonic effect and can energize the incumbent to put forward his best effort.

Voters, in the absence of compelling reasons to vote for the challenger, almost invariably will vote for the incumbent. And since citizens throughout the entire county will decide both of these races, most voters on June 8 will have no direct, personal knowledge of any of the candidates.

The predictable result is that the incumbents, in both instances, will probably be re-elected in these no-issue races.

The Mayor's Report

Let Carmel Woods citizens annex to Carmel-by-the-Sea

By CHARLOTTE TOWNSEND

THE EFFORTS OF residents in Carmel Woods to annex to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea have been reported in our local papers. Recently, I received a letter on this subject, written by a longtime Carmel resident and longtime friend, that I would like to share with you. She writes:

"Your published statement about annexations to 'Carmel's natural boundaries' pleased me. I feel it is the only way to go. We have long since outgrown our seven-eighths square mile. We need the thinking and services of the people living on our perimeter. I believe they need Carmel's incorporated state in order to have a clear voice in determining the course of their own environment and life styles. We are a 'village' only in size and in our past history. We are not a village — except in wishful thinking. We can't 'prevent Carmel from becoming a tourist town' — because in reality it already is."

Everyone in town must have had pink eye during the 1950s and later when all the permits were being given out for motels along Fifth Avenue and Junipero Avenue. (Not that Junipero looked better with the lumber yard, Betty Green's stables and Carmel Laundry!) But we can't stand still and fight what we already are and have. I think we need to make Carmel the best town we can — of the kind it is, not was. And I don't feel we can keep telling Carmel Unincorporated what we think they should do.

'Most valuable resource'

Dear Editor:

Michael Gardner's article and photos of Kay Goines were a tribute to Carmel Unified School District's most valuable resource. I have a 21-year-old sister and a five-year-old son who are products of the "Kay Goines experience." How very lucky they (and we) are!

Freeway backers, foes gather forces

"I'D SAY THERE'S an open book on this one; there's no way to tell which way this one will go."

Webb Beckstead is not a gambling man. He is, however, deputy district director for project development and construction for the California Department of Transportation in San Luis Obispo.

Through the years, he has seen enthusiasm for — as well as opposition to — the Hatton Canyon Freeway wax and wane.

That's why he is unwilling to predict the fate of the freeway, despite what appears to be a bandwagon which has developed in favor of the project in recent weeks.

The swell of local support was triggered by an announcement in early April that the state wanted to rescind the $17 million project and to sell the right-of-way because funds to build the 2.7-mile road — according to CalTrans estimates — probably won't be available for 15 or 20 years.

And, predictably, opposition to the freeway has been re-energized with a group that wants the state to widen Highway 1 instead of building the freeway, to sell the southern portion of the right-of-way, and to retain the northern part in open space.

For a project that has been controversial throughout the 26 years of its existence, the latest eruption of interest by groups on both sides of the question comes as no surprise to CalTrans officials. But it may be that continued controversy which will kill the project faster than any state budgetary crisis, Beckstead told the Pine Cone/Outlook.

The California Transportation Commission is to hold a public hearing on the proposed right-of-way abandonment sometime next fall, probably in September or October, when the conflicting points of view will come into sharper focus.

The 11-member appointed commission determines funding priorities and schedules highway projects throughout the state based on five-year plans; CalTrans then executes the general direction provided by the commission, Beckstead said.

While the commission has displayed an independence in its decisions, it also has shown a reluctance to proceed with freeway projects where there is local controversy, he said. That is one reason why the Hatton Canyon Freeway project has lingered for so long in bureaucratic limbo, Beckstead noted.

"The commission really tries to judge the correct thing to do that's in the public interest," Beckstead said. "If there's a strong grass roots swell — a strong public sentiment — for a particular project they will usually approve it."

"ON THE OTHER HAND, if there doesn't seem to be any consensus that something should be built, they usually won't approve it. There's always been a great deal of controversy over this and I'm sure that's what will occur again."

A PORTION of the Hatton Canyon Freeway right-of-way owned by the California Department of Transportation is this strip of vacant land which runs parallel to Highway

1, adjacent to The Crossroads shopping center (left). Advocates of rescission of the $17 million project contend this land could be easily sold by the state to generate funds to widen Highway 1 and keep the northern portion of the right-of-way in open space. (Michael Gardner photo).

Beckstead appeared at a gathering of freeway advocates last week at the Cypress Inn in Carmel; freeway opponents met at the same time last Thursday at the Carmel Middle School library.

John Gates of Carmel, who said he has collected the signatures of more than 3,000 persons in support of the freeway, organized the Cypress Inn meeting. Petitions circulated by Gates' group call for construction of the freeway project "as soon as possible" instead of widening of Highway 1.

Gates said regional CalTrans officials in San Luis Obispo who prepared a recent analysis of the Hatton Canyon Freeway were shocked to learn that top CalTrans officials in Sacramento had recommended rescission of the project.

"The CalTrans officials I've talked to couldn't understand the conclusion because all the facts pointed to the Hatton Canyon Freeway. They were astounded at the conclusion," Gates said.

The decision to recommend rescission of the project came from Adrianna Gianturco, CalTrans director — according to Gates.

"She is the key to the whole thing," Gates said. "Her philosophy is that she's not too happy with people driving in their individual cars. Her idea is mass transportation."

Gates said freeway supporters are convinced that CalTrans can construct a roadway that has minimal adverse environmental effects, as opposed to the original freeway design which was "astounding" in its proportions. The term "freeway" simply designates any thoroughfare with no intersecting roads, Gates said.

Support for retention of the freeway right-of-way has been expressed by the Carmel City Council, the Monterey City Council and the Monterey County Transportation Commission. And a recent poll of the membership of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce indicated a majority of members also in support of the freeway, Gates indicated.

"The response to our petitions has been fantastic," Gates said. "People just grab it out of my hands. It's the strangest thing I ever saw. We're saying that even if the state widens Highway 1 to seven lanes, it still would not solve the problem."

"We're saying we know we'll need Hatton Canyon; widening Highway 1 is problematical. We're saying, do the freeway first and then decide on Highway 1."

ALREADY DECIDED on which alternative they prefer were the 30 persons who met last Thursday at Carmel Middle School to mount a campaign to halt the freeway project.

The Hatton Canyon Committee elected Carmel contractor and ornithologist Michael Kelly chairman and distributed petitions to be circulated for signatures.

"We intend to make this a statewide issue to stop local politicians and developers from wasting at least $20 million of our taxpayers' money," the committee petition states. "Why should all the residents of California pay for a freeway which only benefits the local, greedy developers?"

Vernon Bartram of Carmel, one of the citizens who attended the organizational meeting, said he was amazed at the sudden surge of support for the freeway project.

"I suspect we don't know our opposition," Bartram said. "You think you've done something to stop it and in a few years you wake up one morning and — lo and behold — everything has changed. The whole thing gets relative to whose bull is getting gored, and how badly."

Attorney Alexander Henson of Carmel Valley, who offered to serve as legal counsel for the committee, said CalTrans would have to prepare an environmental impact report and propose satisfactory mitigation measures before the freeway could ever be built.

Children's librarian bids farewell to her charges

By ROBERT MISKIMON

SATURDAY was Alice Terrell's last day as children's librarian at the Harrison Memorial Library in Carmel, after 11 years of helping local children discover the joys of reading.

Because of an anticipated reduction of some $130,000 in county subsidies to the library, Ms. Terrell was laid off by the library board of trustees last month.

Trustees were to meet Tuesday (May 25) to consider the possibility of closing on Sundays and further staff cuts because of the anticipated reduction in county funds. (See related story in this issue.)

But Ms. Terrell finds it ironic that a community such as Carmel, which can afford to pay $100 per square foot for a mini-park, must eliminate its full-time children's librarian to save her $25,000 yearly salary.

Harrison Memorial Library, although administered by a separate board of trustees, receives about 55 percent of its $429,000 annual operating budget from the city of Carmel.

"Administratively, it makes sense in a way," Ms. Terrell said last Friday as she bid farewell to some of her youthful "regulars" who have gotten to be her friends through the years. "It's a shame everything has to be reduced to a bottom line-dollar figure."

"There's something about this community that's unique. The value of having a professional children's librarian pays off down the road. Studies have shown that the adult users of a public library tend to be the people who used libraries as children," she said.

"One reason they used the library as children was because of professional children's librarians who made them feel they had a special place among library users."

Ms. Terrell has been children's librarian at Harrison Memorial Library since 1971. She holds a master's degree from the University of Texas, and was a children's librarian in

ALICE TERRELL, (right) children's librarian at Harrison Memorial Library in Carmel for the last 11 years, has been laid off because of anticipated county funding reductions. She broke the news last week to a crowd of her "regulars" at the library.

Fort Worth, Tex. and a school teacher before she came to Carmel.

Even though there has been a decline in the number of children who use the library which corresponds with the decline in enrollment in the Carmel Unified School District, Ms. Terrell believes the full-time services of a children's librarian are still needed.

"Even if there are only five kids in Carmel who are library users, there needs to be someone tuned into their needs," Ms. Terrell said. "If the city can afford to pay $400,000 for a vacant lot (a reference to the Piccadilly Park), they can afford to pay for the children's librarian who's already here."

Ms. Terrell said Library Director Peg Richter plans to continue children's services on a half-time basis (20 hours per week) through another library staffer. Richter indicated last week she doesn't think the library can afford a full-time children's librarian, even if the county doesn't cut the full $130,000.

The library board of trustees did not offer her half-time work, Ms. Terrell said. But she reaffirmed her belief that Carmel should have a full-time children's librarian.

"It's a big disappointment," Ms. Terrell said. "There are so few things for children to do around here anyway. This town can afford to do whatever it decides it wants to do."

What about her own personal future? "I may just think things over for a while before I make any decisions."

Bark beetles invade Carmel in the summer

By GREG D'AMBROSIO
Carmel City Forester

MONTEREY PINE Bark Beetles are appearing in ever increasing numbers as the summer months approach. This insect is a major cause of Monterey Pine deaths, particularly in mature trees, trees growing on or near construction projects and especially those trees that have recently been pruned.

The insect is drawn by the scent of fresh pine sap and will bore into and feed on the tree's conductive tissues. Attacks are restricted to the exposed roots growing on the surface and the tree trunk from ground surface to a height of approximately eight to 10 feet. Infestations have been known to kill even healthy trees within a few months after the initial attack.

I recommend that you visually inspect your trees regularly during the summer and early fall. Also refrain from pruning pines until the late fall and winter months when this insect is at the lowest level of activity.

Most trees infested with bark beetles can be saved with some diligence and knowledge of proper preventative techniques. Recognizing the signs of the presence of bark beetles in a pine tree is the most important step toward saving the tree. Look between the bark plates on the trunk at the base of the tree and up to a height of approximately eight to 10 feet.

If beetles are present, you will see a small cone-shaped brownish mass of pine pitch with a hole at the center. The entire cone is about one-half inch in diameter and approximately one inch long. This is the beetles' entrance into the tree. Directly below the entrance will be a collection of pink or white granular material. This material is the frass, or tailings, chewed by the insect. It is actually wood residue extracted by the beetles' tunneling operations.

To prevent the beetles from doing further damage, you must trace the insects' path or channel until you find the beetles. The tools necessary for the tracing operation are a hammer and chisel.

TO BEGIN, chip away the bark and carefully follow the channel which is just below the bark layer. Take care not to cut any deeper than the white cambium just behind the bark. Follow the channel — it may meander — but do not lose track of where the insect is tunneling. As you trace, check to see that you have not accidentally cut more of the bark than necessary. Your objective is to find the insect. If you don't find the beetle, you may not have corrected the problem.

There may be more than one beetle per tunnel. Carefully check the area traced to assured yourself there is no more infestation. After you complete the tracing, clean the wound by shaping it into an oval with pointed ends. This shape is best for the healing process and stimulates proper callus development. This oval shape also prevents moisture from settling in the wound and allows for rapid runoff and faster drying of the area.

After shaping, paint the entire wound area with a thick tree seal compound. This will slow down or prevent the process of wood decay. Immediately after these steps, spray the trunk with a mixture of Lindane, water and a small amount of oil. The insecticide label will tell you what mixture should be used.

Check the tree several times in the weeks and months to follow to be sure there is not a recurrence of the problem. Doing the job yourself will save you considerable money.

Meeting on nuclear safeguards

A protective "umbrella" for the planet earth as a safe, achievable means of avoiding nuclear war is the goal of some of America's top weapons scientists who will appear at a special meeting to be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 29, at All Saints Episcopal Church Parish Hall, Lincoln and Ninth, in Carmel.

The public is invited; there is no admission charge.

Herbert Leifer, senior staff scientist of the laser weapons program with Rockwell International will lay out the facts on a subject until now almost totally avoided in public discussion of the arms race—the rapid and profound impact of a new family of weapons made up of high energy lasers and particle beams.

Peter Vajk, senior scientist, formerly with Lawrence Livermore Laboratories, will add his expertise on the perils and promise of these new weapons.

"Beam weapons kill weapons not people," said Kenneth Largman, president of San Francisco-based World Security Council, which will sponsor the event. "They create a genuine opportunity for the human race to back away from a fatal and increasingly likely catastrophe. All people who share this hope are invited to join in our effort," Largman said.

Local hosts for the event are May Waldroup, Howard Brunn, George Faul, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Monosoff, Sam Karas and Ben Lyon.

Carmel Valley Little League

BY MERRY NOLTE

Valley Hardware's Wolfpack broke a deadlock for first place in Carmel Valley Little League's minor league by defeating Kasey's Toros, 21-15, in this week's game. The Wolfpack improved its record to four wins, no losses, with the Toros now in second place with a three and one record.

The Grapevine Deli Broncos edged the Kurz Instrument Pirates, 15-14, with a run in the bottom half of the third and final inning. Both teams now have identical records of two wins and two losses.

MAJOR LEAGUES

Carmel Valley Texaco's Lions finished the first half of the major league season with a perfect seven and zero record. In this week's game, Rene Diaz and Simon Laguens combined to pitch a no-hitter against the Running Iron Wildcats, 12-5.

Leading hitter for the Lions was Laguens, whose three hits included two doubles and brought in five runs. Diaz and Chris Nolte also got two hits for the Lions. Davin Gardner and Augie Acuna pitched for the Wildcats.

The Wills Fargo Tigers edged the Brown-Spaulding Falcons, 4-3, to take second place with a four and two record. In a game featuring fine pitching and fielding for both teams, Lee Leidig started for the Falcons and shut the Tigers out for three innings. Kurt Harrison relieved. Dan Lind started for the Tigers, followed by Jason Watts and Jim Courtney. Courtney led the Tigers with three hits, including a triple. Derik Estes and Kier Buche both had two hits (Tigers), as did Phil Haste (Falcons).

Kiwanis Indians defeated the Fire Department Volunteers, 9-4, to break into the winning column. Pitchers for the Indians were Jerry Kurz and Gary Jones. Nic Trudeau, John Selle, and Randy Barker pitched for the Volunteers. Scott Wiesne got a key double for the Indians, and Travis Williams had two hits. Chris Jelleson led the Vols with three hits, one a double. Selle tripled, and Barker had two hits, including a double.

BAT-A-THON

Chris Bosso and Joel Cosseboom were awarded gift certificates to the Sports Barn of $50 and $25 respectively for being the top fund raiser in the recent Bat-a-Thon. League president Jim Shakal announced that $767 was earned from the event, which involved the players getting pledges based on how many feet they would hit a baseball.

Workman picked for Boys' State

Robert Louis Stevenson School junior, Joey Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Workman of Monterey, has been chosen as the representative of American Legion Post 512 of Carmel for the 1982 Boys' State. The selection committee was made up of Frank Girard, chairman; William Field; Fred Foley of the Post and Michael McCarthy, Monterey American Legion District chairman for Boys' State.

The 45th Annual California Boys' State will be held June 19 to June 26 on the California State University, Sacramento campus.

SUPERMAN II

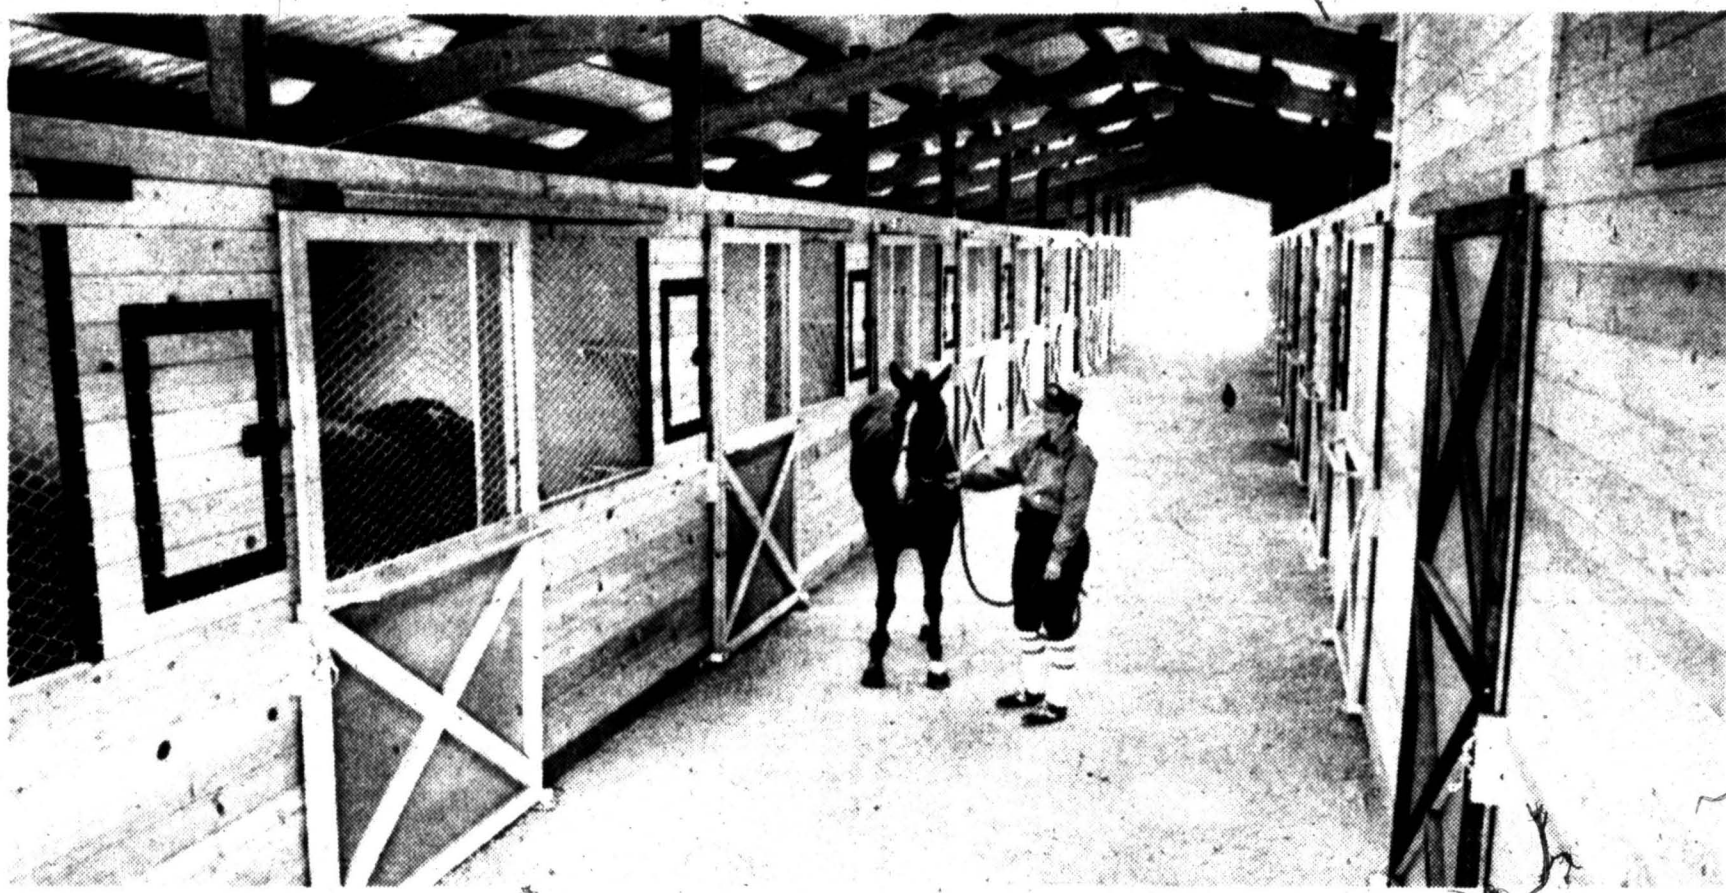

Highway 1 and Rio Road, Carmel

WHETHER you're just learning to ride or refining your technique, our instruction program at Rancho Laureles emphasizes the special rapport that develops between horse and rider. We offer private and group riding lessons for hunt seat, dressage or just for fun.

A GOOD HORSE, good friends and open spaces are among the joys of riding. Rancho Laureles offers direct access to Garland Ranch Regional Park and 2,500 acres of divine equestrian trails (motorized vehicles prohibited!) to enjoy any day of the year!

SAFE, SPACIOUS, deluxe accommodations — and care to match — pamper horses boarded at Rancho Laureles. Our box stalls are large and airy, cleaned fastidiously, bedded generously. Our feeding program creates sleek, healthy and contented horses who look and feel good! We also offer pipe paddocks and pasture boarding — all at competitive rates.

You owe your horse — and yourself — the good life at Rancho Laureles

We believe your horse deserves the very best care to keep him healthy and happy. At Rancho Laureles we offer safe and comfortable accommodations plus a high-quality feeding program to bring out the best in your horse.

Our deluxe box stalls are a full 12x12 and open onto a securely fenced 288-square-foot paddock. Most stalls have foot-cushioning rubber mats, automatic waterers and feeders. Best of all, they are meticulously cleaned and bedded daily.

A bonus to patrons is the roomy tack locker assigned with each stall and a separate place to store feed and grain. To pamper your horse even more, our wash rack has hot water!

WHERE WE RIDE

Two large, securely fenced arenas offer excellent, well-drained sand footing. Our jump ring measures 325x135 feet and is used for basic schooling as well. Our 150x275-foot upper arena includes a dressage court. There's also a round lungeing ring and a half-mile track around our fields for warming up a horse, cooling him out or legging him up.

A very special part of riding at Rancho Laureles is Garland Ranch Regional Park and 2,500 acres of equestrian trails. Our property directly adjoins the park.

THE FINEST CARE

We're proud to receive compliments from professional horsepeople about the condition of our horses. Our feeding program includes high-protein alfalfa cubes and the finest oat and alfalfa hay money can buy, fed generously to put weight and 'bloom' on even rundown, skinny horses and keep it there. Regular farrier and veterinary care are part of the program at Rancho Laureles.

LESSONS, ANYONE?

Our instructor, Doug Downing, can take you from the basics of equitation through advanced jumping and dressage. He is available for private, semi-private or group lessons by appointment. Doug is also a kind, conscientious and qualified trainer who can start a horse gently or help smooth out any problems you may encounter.

GOOD COMPANY

One of the nicest things about Rancho Laureles is its relaxed, informal atmosphere. People tend to linger and visit and that makes us feel good because it means they like it here. After a ride, they'll sit around, enjoy a soft drink and chat — mostly about horses, of course. But best of all, newcomers are made to feel genuinely welcome, whether they're nervous beginners or old pros. There's always a helping hand and a generous sprinkling of advice to help you feel you "belong" right from the start.

Why not see for yourself? Come out into the Carmel Valley sunshine to pay us a visit!

Father Farrell's wisdom

In the past few weeks I have lost in death, a friend, and I feel the loss deeply. The Book of Siroch (The King James Version calls it Apocrypha) gives us this solid advice "Forsake not an old friend; for a new is not comparable to him. The new friend is as new wine when it is old thou shall drink it with pleasure."

Several years ago I visited my friend near Chicago. We talked of old times, ate together and he could not do enough by showing me his area. I realized that our friendship had come to fruition — we had been acquaintances and colleagues — no we were friends.

The maturing of friendship by slow degrees is not readily appreciated in a society such as ours which extolls "call me Joe," instant intimacy. Often we do not realize that friendship has come to be, until it is severed by leave taking or death.

In Shakespeare's Hamlet, Polonius gives advice to his son Laertes, "Those friends thou hast and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with harps of steel." Then he gives some warning against the Danish Goodtime Charlie Syndrome "but do not dull thy palm with entertainment of each new hatched unfledged comrade."

Oh Lord, help us to find a friend and to keep him. We can not expect more than two or three in a lifetime. King Solomon said A faithful friend is beyond price. He is worth more than money can buy. A faithful friend is an elixir of life.

Finally - Richard Burnfield, an Englishman who died 355 years ago, wrote these cynical lines

Everyone that flatters thee
Is no friend in misery,
Words are easy as the wind,
Faithful friends are hard to find,
Every man will be thy friend
Whilst thou has wherewith to spend
But if store of crowns be scant
No man will supply thy want
He that is thy friend indeed
He will help thee in thy need.

Business Beat*From cameras to jewelry*

By FLORENCE MASON

IN THE camera business one day, in the jewelry business the next."

The speaker was Jim Genone. What he told the Business License and Code Review Board about the difficulties of doing business in Carmel had the complete attention of board members. It is a tale told many times in this column, but Genone said it better — out of his own experience.

Jim and his wife Michelle came back to Carmel, where they had lived earlier, to make their home in the Valley and raise their two young sons. After operating several businesses in the San Francisco Bay area, they acquired Camera Craft, which had been on Ocean Avenue for more than 30 years. That was last fall. When Genone appeared before the business license board, it was to divest himself and his wife of Camera Craft and gain a license for a new jewelry store at the same location.

"When we took over Camera Craft," Genone told the board, "we knew there were financial problems. We believed it could be successful, however; that it had an appeal to both tourists and residents. We spent a lot of money on various aspects of the business, including remodeling. Sales increased fairly dramatically."

But it was not enough. "Watching the books carefully, we saw that in spite of a good cash flow, the last couple of months suggested that we weren't going to make any money. One reason: we had new competition from two sources.

"PhotoArt came in, and because it is photo processing that makes the money for a store like ours, that store became serious competition. Another camera and photo processing shop opened up on the corner and that also affected us. Another major factor was that the rent, which was $300 a month four years ago, more than quadrupled in that period.

"Our accountant said that we needed a substantially larger investment or we would have to shut down. So we were forced to close. The decision was not made lightly."

The Genones were determined not to set aside their plan for a life and a business in Carmel. After much consideration, they decided to move into a different field — jewelry. They have a long-term lease on the space where Camera Craft was located so it was "just a matter of getting out of the camera business and into fine jewelry."

Genone stressed that word "fine." In fact, the new shop — named Equinox — is already advertising for "hand-crafted 14k gold jewelry on consignment ... high quality original jewelry designs."

The Genones are quietly optimistic about the potential for a successful jewelry business in Carmel.

"If you are good at what you do, your chances of success are good. But that was not so with the camera business. There is much less overhead with jewelry, and a great mark-up," Genone said.

The couple has worked with jewelry before and had even considered this possibility when they remodeled Camera Craft after they acquired it last fall. The only remnant is that they will continue to sell film, at least for the present, since they have a number of regular customers for film.

Camera Craft's inventory is being sold and the couple expects to have new merchandise on hand within a couple of weeks.

Members of the board were quick to respond to Genone, and to express encouragement. Perhaps the clearest explanation of understanding and sympathy came from board member Fred Stanley, owner of Stanley Appliances. "Also being in the retail business, I appreciate your words," he said, "every one of them."

THERE'LL BE SERVICE AT THIS SERVICE STATION

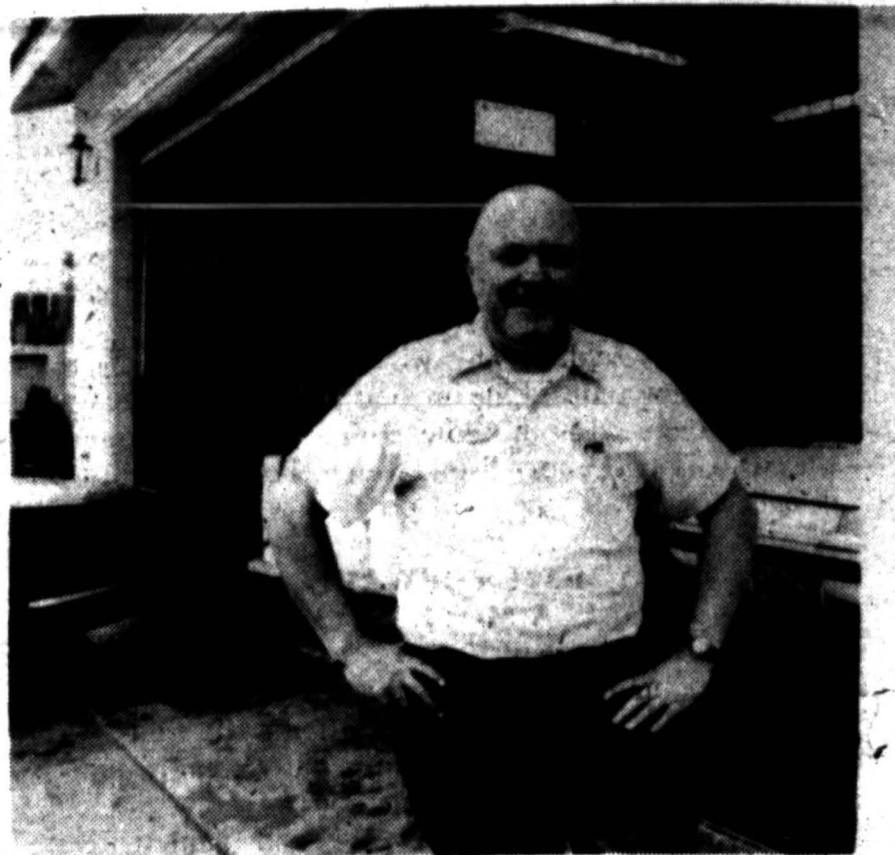

That's the promise of John Babcock and Paul Laub, new owners of the Union station at San Carlos and Sixth.

The Business License and Code Review Board was delighted to learn that Babcock, mechanic at the station for 29 years, and prolific local businessman Paul Laub, were to take over and would keep the station going, at least for the next 18 months.

That's the term of their lease and there may be some question about the property owner's willingness to renew that lease. Babcock told the board that he and Laub hope to be able to renew the lease, or to buy the property themselves.

The new owners plan to give special consideration to Carmel residents and workers. "We're going to issue preferred customer cards to anyone who lives or works in Carmel," Laub said. "The card will entitle that person to a special discount on some of our services and supplies."

"Carmel Village Union" will also be a full service gas station, Laub emphasized. He and Babcock are already well into plans to solve problems of congestion at the station and they are "refreshing" the landscaping. Light automobile repair work will be featured, although the terms of their contract with the oil company do not permit engine overhauling or other heavy work.

JOHN BABCOCK, a mechanic at the downtown Union gas station for 29 years, is one of the new owners.

DOUGLAS SMITH CARRIES ON

Another person who keeps a Carmel tradition alive is Douglas Smith, formerly associated with Richard Gorham antiques. Smith will now offer English, American and Chinese furniture such as was carried by Gorham until his recent retirement.

You'll find all that, and some porcelains and accessories, too, at J. Douglas Antiques, which replaces the Timberlane Art Gallery on San Carlos between Seventh and Eighth, upstairs.

Smith, who has been in the area about 10 years, also worked previously with David Hughes when Hughes had "David" at Ocean and Dolores. He lives just two blocks from his new shop, a proximity that delights him.

The shop opened May 15 and Smith gave an opening celebration the next day.

He says he doesn't have time now for the avocations he used to pursue, but there are local theater fans who will remember him on the stage and helping to manage productions at the Studio Theater several years ago.

Footnote: Inez Dilling, who owned the Timberlane Gallery at this location, has retired - at least to the extent that she will only sell through a catalogue. Eventually, she'll move to a new home in Arizona.

MORE ABOUT SPENCERS

Last week I promised to tell you more about the change in ownership at Spencers Carmel, the long-established stationery and office supply store on Ocean between Dolores and Lincoln. The good word is that new owners Jim and Susan Dougherty plan to keep the store "much as it is."

The Doughertys are cleaning, painting and re-organizing. But the stock will remain the same: gift wrap, cards, notes, albums, all sizes and shapes of both business and personal stationery. There will continue to be gifts such as small home accessories as well as pens, matched desk sets and the like.

Office supplies will have their own section, as they have had since the store opened in that location in 1936. And art supplies, a relatively new addition to Spencers, will occupy a full 300 square feet of space upstairs.

Former owners Paul and Mary Kay Allen will be concentrating on their new gift and home accessory shop in the Plaza; Jim and Susan Dougherty are delighted to be the owners of what Dougherty described as "a Carmel institution." Because of its long-respected name, the Doughertys will not change that, either.

"We'll just make it all even better," Jim Dougherty said. He has been the owner for the past six years of the House of Steins at Mission and Fourth. That was his first business venture after moving from Los Angeles.

When Dougherty said that his wife is definitely an "active partner" in the new venture, he implied that her tennis playing might suffer some. But not the couple's two daughters - Shannon, who is two and Alison, four. The family lives in Carmel Valley.

A MOVE FORWARD IS A MOVE UP

At least, that is the hope of Ernie Lofstrom, owner of Toc of the Town. Lofstrom has just acquired a new business license to operate his antique shop in the front of the May Court on Mission north of Sixth. He's not coming any great distance - just from the rear corner of the same court.

The space, formerly occupied by Wells and Bennett Realty Co., is the same size. "But three times the location!" Lofstrom said. When he first opened the shop, more than a year ago, he enjoyed the quiet spot, where he could pursue the antique clock-repairing business that is a special feature at Toc of the Town.

He also believed that his somewhat out-of-the-way location meant that the shop attracted only serious buyers, who could take the time to look carefully for what they wanted. Now, he hopes to have the same kind of customers, and more of them, with his street location.

Micky Micklantz, who held the Wells and Bennett franchise at that location, has moved back to Hawaii, I'm told.

LOCAL HONORS...

The Pebble Beach Co. (formerly Pebble Beach Corp.) has a new vice president for finance and administration: Harold McCoy, who moved up from his position as controller.

He is a graduate of Kent State University and a California CPA. McCoy began working with the Pebble Beach Co. in 1973 as assistant controller.

Carmel Valley's Durney Vineyards continues to show up in the winner's circle.

Its 1979 Cabernet Sauvignon was selected one of the 12 wines judged best in overall quality from the 1982 spring releases of all California wines. The judging was sponsored by the California Wine Merchant's Gazette, a monthly trade newsletter. The judges were 27 leading wine retailers from throughout the state.

ALL ABOUT CROISSANTS

Since I'm somewhat provincial, I assumed that Carmel was unique in its special appreciation for the croissant. Last year we told you about Juliette Garneri and Prima-Rosa Nicastro, who practiced making croissants for a year and then launched their product in various local markets and opened La Maison du Croissants on Bonifacio Place in Monterey.

More recently, filled and warmed croissants produced in Carmel by the Monterey Baking Co. led to questions whether that store is a bakery, grocery or delicatessen. Those questions did nothing to diminish the popularity of non-controversial versions of croissants available there. And of course croissants have long been available in other local bakeries and stores.

According to Time magazine, Carmelites with a taste for the flaky pastry are only a small part of what has become "the hottest new entrant" into the $31 billion-a-year fast-food industry in this country. One of the biggest success stories based on this product is that of a French bakery chain - Vie de France - based in Virginia.

After six years, the company made $4 million annually. In 1978, a major marketing program resulted in a tremendous upsurge, with revenues this year expected to be nearly $30 million.

One factor that has undoubtedly spurred the new interest in croissants is their versatility. Stuffed with "everything from fruit preserves to ham, cheese and even beef bourguignon," they have developed considerably wider appeal than the first crescent-shaped pastries which appeared in Vienna in 1683. Their characteristic shape was to commemorate Vienna's successful stand against a besieging army of Ottoman Turks. When he devoured the croissant, the 17th Century Austrian devoured the emblem on the Turkish flag!

Whatever the reasons for their popularity, little more is needed than that they are delicious.

A NOTE IN PASSING...

That is, in moving. If you thought you saw a house, or parts of a house, making its way slowly down San Antonio early one morning recently, you were quite correct.

The house was split into three parts on its original site, San Antonio south of 11th Street and transported to a lot on 15th Street. The home is owned by Jay Jay Shapiro, a Los Angeles resident already the owner of one home in Carmel, and its move was accomplished by Henningsen Construction Co. of Salinas. Local arrangements were handled by Shapiro's agent, Joanne Nopert, Del Monte Realty.

Re-elect
Judge Fred Novinger...
a man of high standards

"A Judge must administer the law fairly and impartially. He may be tough but he must also be decisive and firm. He should, however, always temper any toughness with compassion, decisiveness with fairness and firmness with understanding. He is bound by the law and what the law is and he may not substitute his own ideas for what he thinks the law ought to be, nor may he adopt or advocate the concepts or opinions of any special interest groups. He is unquestionably a symbol of community integrity, competence and morality and he must meet exacting high standards in maintaining these traits."

Carmel musician picked for European tour band

By ROBERT MISKIMON

"I'M DOING THIS to represent Mr. Avila."

That is the way Carmel High School sophomore Paul Everts describes his effort to raise funds to join the America's Youth in Concert on a European tour this summer.

The 16-year-old musician was selected to travel and perform with fellow musicians from all over the United States, based on an audition tape which provided a sample of his percussion work.

Everts is the only student from Carmel High School picked to participate in the program this year, and one of three on the Monterey Peninsula. His family can't afford the $3,500 tuition and air fare, but he hopes to raise the money somehow.

It's more than just a personal honor, although it is a significant achievement to be picked for the tour. Everts would like to do it because of pride in his school, and most particularly because of his fond memories of Henry Avila — the Carmel High School music teacher who died last January.

For Everts, who lives with his divorced mother and two sisters, his relationship with Henry Avila was something special.

"I knew him (Avila) for eight years," Everts said. "The last three years were the closest. Knowing him was the first time I looked up to someone older."

"We used to go out, have dinner, and play music. When he passed away, it was almost like losing my father."

Under Henry Avila's guidance and instruction, Everts learned to play drums, clarinet and saxophone. In his eight years with Avila, Everts collected these honors: Outstanding Soloist Contest at Church of the Wayfarer (1977); soloist in "The Drummer Boy" (1977); Central Coast Section Junior High Honor Band (1978-79 and 1979-80); Monterey County Youth Orchestra (1979-80); Central Coast Section High School Honor Band (1980-81); California Orchestra Directors Association Honor Orchestra (1981); first prize in district talent contest at tri-state Key Club convention in San Diego (1982); solo appearance at Henry Avila Memorial Concert (1982).

Karen King, the high school music teacher who took over the music program after Avila's death, described Everts as "a very talented musician" and said his teachers and peers at Carmel High School are "very proud of him."

Ms. King said Everts' accomplishments also reflect upon the schools, since "he's done all this musical learning in the public schools — particularly with the help of Henry Avila."

"Paul has the talent and enthusiasm to become a professional musician. He has donated a lot of his time to help as a student teacher at Carmel Middle School. He really enjoys teaching and performing."

EVERTS' MOTHER, Carleen Everts, works as a secretary at Monterey High School and is the sole support for Paul and his two sisters.

"Our family finances are very limited," Mrs. Everts said. "Paul works after school part-time clerking at Carmel Drug Store but the little money he earns there he tries to save for college. In addition to working after school and participating in school activities, he maintains a 3.2 grade point average."

Everts proudly pointed out that his mother has been sending out letters to various organizations in an effort to raise donations to make his European concert tour a reality. "I've gotten a lot of pats on the back, but so far no money," Paul said.

For tuition he needs to raise at least $2,500 by June 30; the balance of $1,000 is for travel expenses, including plane fare, meals and lodging. The tour starts with concerts in early July at Carnegie Hall in New York City, then the musicians will travel to London, Paris (where they will perform in Notre Dame Cathedral), Strasbourg, Innsbruck, Venice, Florence, and Rome.

Student musicians who participate in the tour can also earn college credit, which Everts would like to apply toward graduation from the college of his choice — University of the Pacific in Stockton.

Everts has planned with his friends at Carmel High to have a bake sale to help him raise the funds, and he is optimistic that somehow the full amount can be raised to enable him to join this year's European concert tour.

Paul Everts can be reached at Carmel High School (624-1821), or at home (624-9125). Mrs. Everts can be contacted at work (649-7381) during working hours.

Planning commission bears down on permit processes

THE CARMEL Planning Commission has decided not to require "mock-ups" from sign applicants, but does plan to "bear down" on incomplete applications.

The commission pondered the requirement of a mock-up so that members could be presented with a replica of the proposed sign, colors and letter size.

However, a land use committee report presented to the commission at its May 19 session recommended that the commission not require mock-ups because it "may inflict undue economic hardship on the applicant."

Planning Director Bob Griggs estimated the average cost of a mock-up at about $85.

The commission decided that staff members should "bear down" on incomplete applications that are routinely sent back to the applicant for more information.

Staff was also requested to inform applicants that the commission would like to see an accurate "cartoon" rendering of the proposed sign. The cartoon would not, however, have to be the actual size of the proposed sign.

In other action, the commission adopted a pair of ordinances that will be sent to the city council for final approval.

The first ordinance would ban earth satellite receiving "antennae" larger than 10 feet in diameter.

Commissioners feel that the devices do not fit into the esthetic characteristics of the Village.

Earth satellite stations receive television signals from satellites that orbit the globe.

Most are more than 30 feet in diameter and cost between $3,000 and $10,000.

A second ordinance eliminates driveways and sidewalks from inclusion in maximum lot coverage regulations.

Commissioners said there is a trend to build garages as close to the street as possible to save on the area of the driveway. With the elimination of impermeable surfaces from lot coverage regulations, the residential building site could be larger, but would also be built farther back on the lot.

A public hearing has been scheduled for June 16 on a proposed ordinance that would limit the size of "no handbills allowed" and "no solicitation" signs in the residential zones.

The ordinance is necessary because the council has adopted a measure that prohibits solicitation or distribution of handbills on private property if a resident posts a sign.

Previously, the council had prohibited solicitations or handbill distribution, but that measure was ruled unconstitutional because it violated the First Amendment.

The proposed ordinance before the commission would limit the size of the signs to two inches deep and 12 inches long.

Commissioners also referred a design application by Giorgio's Restaurant to the design review committee.

Giorgio's would open at the site now occupied by Dock Lor's Chinese Canton Restaurant, south side of Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Mission Streets.

Lor has indicated that he does not plan to retire and does not want to vacate the premises.

PICKETING in front of Bruno's Market in Carmel took on a decidedly upbeat tone last week as the striking union employees received word that a U.S. District Court judge in San Francisco has ordered arbitration in the six-month-old dispute. Workers, who are members of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union, have been on strike in a dispute over a provision in a prior union contract.

Rundown on graduation events

Carmel schools plan a variety of activities for 1982 graduates toward the end of the term.

Graduation exercises for Carmel High School students will be celebrated at 4 p.m. June 11 on Bardarson Field. The school is at the intersection of Highway 1 and Ocean Avenue.

The invocation will be delivered by Rabbi Mark Gross. Student speakers are Julianne Leavy, Erin Davey, Aileen Kelly and Wendy Wagstaff.

Commencement at Carmel Valley High School will be held at 5 p.m. June 9 on campus. The campus is on Schulte Road, south of Carmel Valley Road.

Casche Swanson is the student speaker. The winner of the Valli Cook Memorial Creative Writing Award will also be announced at graduation.

Carmel Middle School eighth graders will graduate at 6 p.m. June 10 in the gym. The school is about one mile east of Highway 1 on Carmel Valley Road.

The invocation will be offered by the Rev. James Brock. Student speakers are Alysa Hawkins and Mike Lee. Student Body President Steve Roberts will present the class of 1982.

The five elementary schools also have special year-end activities planned.

Fifth graders at Carmelo School will celebrate graduation with a picnic at the Carmel Valley Racquet Club June 4.

Tularcitos School fifth graders will have a swimming party at the Carmel Valley Community Center pool June 10.

River School fifth graders will be honored at a "recognition" program at 1:30 p.m. June 10 in the cafeteria.

At Captain Cooper School in Big Sur, graduates will celebrate the end of the year along with the lower graders at a "Spring Sing" program June 4.

The annual Maypole Festival at Woods School will include all grade levels and is the annual year-end activity. The festival is at 10:30 a.m. May 28.

Polish crisis forces Carmel business to close doors

By ROBERT MISKIMON

THE LAST DAY of May will be the last day of business for Imports from Poland in Carmel Plaza.

The small specialty shop is not the victim of high interest rates, spiraling inflation or any of the conventional business woes but rather the world political situation.

Although demand for the hand-made Polish arts and crafts has continued high, the supply from Poland has been completely cut off since last December, said owner Grazyna Gonet.

That was when Polish communist rulers, acting in what was widely perceived to be a Kremlin-directed strategy, attempted to crush the Solidarity movement with the imposition of martial law.

It was also when President Ronald Reagan clamped an embargo on the import of Polish goods into the United States, Mrs. Gonet pointed out.

The small, cheerful shop is adorned with brightly-colored tapestries characteristic of the world-renown Polish crafts; small, hand-carved wooden dolls in native costume are clustered next to folk art statuettes. Works by some of the top Polish painters are also on the walls.

Imports from Poland is the only specialty shop of its type on the Monterey Peninsula, and probably the only one in central California, Mrs. Gonet said. There is a Polish shop in San Francisco and one in New York — both of which also have been affected by the political situation in Poland, she said.

Mrs. Gonet purchased the business in 1979 from Irene Kobielski and changed the name from Kilims — the Polish word for the unique woven tapestries which have been in great demand.

Married to Kazimierz Gonet, a project officer at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey, Mrs. Gonet has a 16-year-old daughter, Jolanta. She is originally from Krakow, Poland and has lived in the United States for 11 years. She is a naturalized U.S. citizen.

Although the fate of her business is inextricably — and quite obviously — tied to world politics, Mrs. Gonet is reluctant to discuss politics for fear some harm may befall her family and friends still in Poland.

Her sentiments, however, can be understood from the stack of T-shirts, bumper stickers, and buttons emblazoned with "Solidarity" which are for sale in her shop. Proceeds from those transactions are deposited in a local bank to be sent — through the proper underground channels — into Poland to support the popular labor movement.

"EVER SINCE last December and martial law, I've had a problem getting shipments," Mrs. Gonet explained. "The shipments actually started getting bad since

GRAZYNA GONET'S collection of Polish folk arts and crafts, including this brightly-colored weaving, has been rapidly depleted since an American embargo on Polish exports was ordered by President Reagan in response to martial law in that communist bloc nation last December.

Holiday Inn requests additional sign

THE CARMEL Holiday Inn has asked the county for permission to install a 14 sq. ft. sign at its Rio Road entrance at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon is to hold a hearing on the request of Chatmar, Inc. — owner of the Holiday Inn — for a variance permit at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, June 10.

County regulations limit the size of a commercial sign in that area to 35 sq. ft., and the Holiday Inn already has a 33 sq. ft. sign, Slimmon said. Thus a variance would be required to permit the additional sign coverage, he said.

The hearing will be held in the Monterey County Courthouse in Salinas.

the Solidarity movement started."

Mrs. Gonet, like millions of people worldwide, felt a rush of hope when the Solidarity movement surfaced in Poland.

"When Solidarity started, it seemed too good to be true," she said. "I knew the Russians wouldn't allow that much freedom. What Solidarity demanded was too much for the Russians to handle."

Mrs. Gonet is disturbed about the fact she can no longer telephone friends and relatives in Poland since the imposition of martial law. The letters she receives are stamped "Censored" and the envelopes have been cut open.

As a result, she knows no more about what is actually happening than anyone else outside the Iron Curtain.

"It takes about a month and a half for a letter to get to Poland, and another month and a half to get an answer," she said. "That's three months to hear from my family. All the letters I've gotten since martial law sound as if nothing at all has happened."

There is a hint of how her relatives are faring in more subtle messages, Mrs. Gonet said. She produced a card from her brother with a copy of an abstract painting on its cover: two stylized heads bowed downward.

"I can tell by the kind of card they sent that they feel sad...depressed," she said.

Mrs. Gonet's first trip outside the Soviet bloc was in 1962 when she visited Greece. It was also her first contact with Americans; she was amazed at the degree of freedom and lack of inhibition displayed by Americans.

"People are definitely better off here than in Poland, even with the economic pressures," she said.

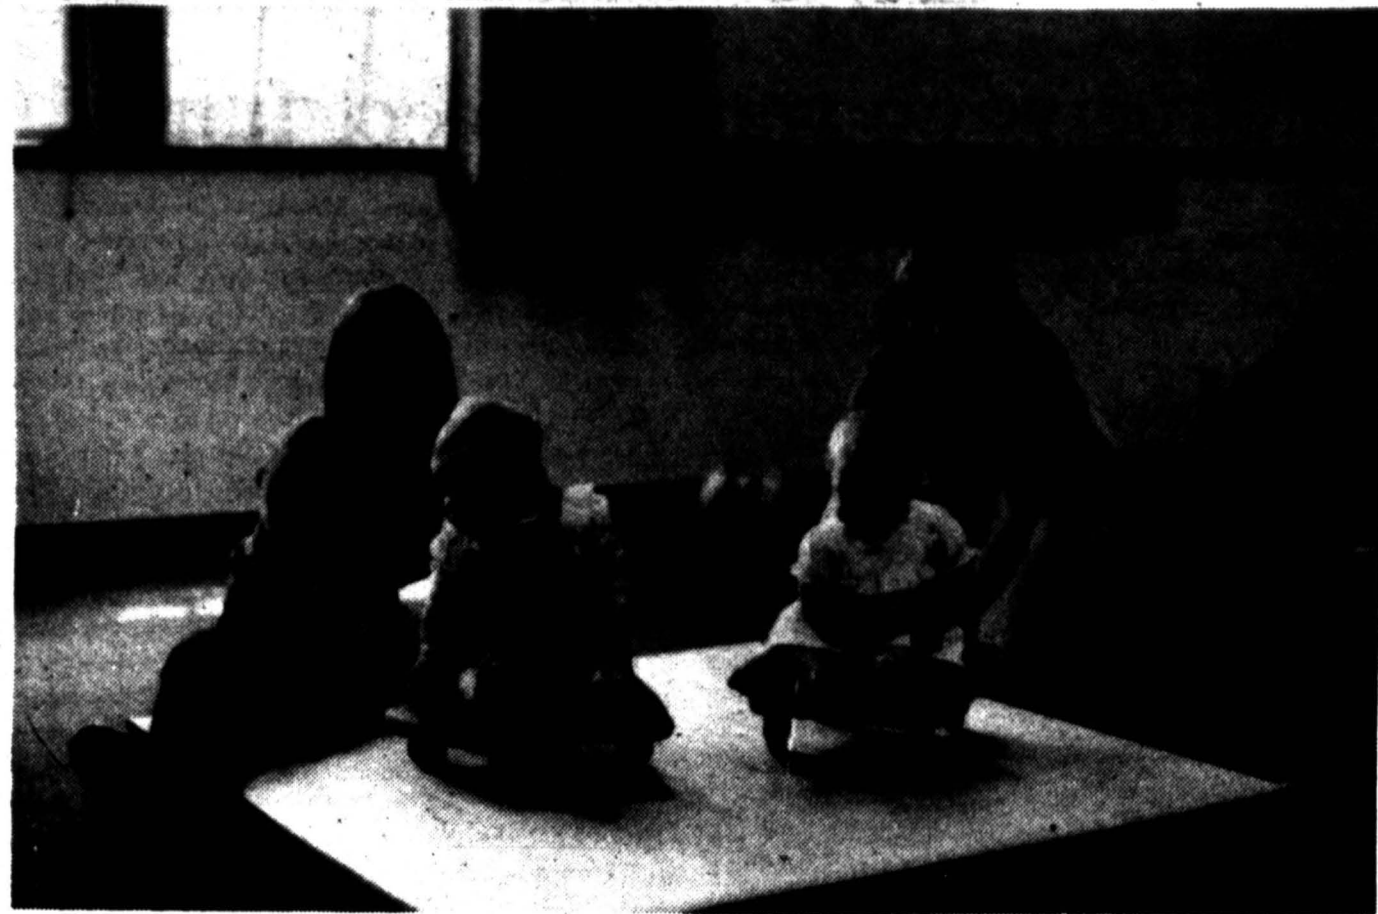

Her business was so prosperous before the events of last December that she had plans to rent larger quarters at Carmel Plaza, Mrs. Gonet said. She has sent food and clothing to relatives in Poland throughout the years, but is somewhat at a loss to know what to do now.

"It's hard to say what will help those people, because everything has failed so far," she said. "After World War II, our parents and young people were tired of war and suffering. But the new generation, I think, can see the difference between freedom and slavery."

Gymboree programs bring moms together with their children for fun

"The work of children is play."—French educator Jean Piaget.

TUESDAY MORNINGS are exercise class times for Rebecca, Emily and Tommy. But these courses do not include jazzercise, weight lifts or even situps.

The three, and about 60 other Carmel area toddlers, participate in a newly-opened program called "gymboree," which is designed for "creative play time between parents and children."

The Carmel Gymboree program, which is offered Mondays and Tuesdays, is divided into three different age groups: babygym, three months to one year; gymboree, one year to two and one-half years; and gymgrad, two and one-half years to four years.

Taught by Liz Mannix of Carmel, the program is part of a statewide franchise started by a Marin County mother who was tired of drop-off day care centers and babysitters.

"We want to provide quality playtime for parents and their children. That's the beauty of the whole program," Mrs. Mannix said.

Gymboree is designed for parents to be with their children in a creative environment that includes huge balls, slides, rollers and group activities.

In each program, there are group activities before parents play with their children individually on the equipment, which is especially designed in size and usefulness for the younger kids.

The babygym program starts with a circle and Mrs. Mannix leads the parents in a series of body movement exercises. While they sing nursery rhymes, parents move the children's arms and legs.

When the exercise is completed, the parents are encouraged to hug the child and say what a good kid he or she is, said Mrs. Mannix.

"We like the parents to give the children positive reinforcement. The kids respond to that," she said. "Also, children love to show off when they have learned something new. In the older classes, they will say: 'Look, mommy. Look what I can do.'"

The gymboree class is less structured than the babygym program because the kids are more independent and it is important that more time is spent with the parent and child playing on a one-to-one basis, Mrs. Mannix said.

The gymgrad program returns the child to MRS. MANNIX is familiar with the development of children. She is a former elementary school teacher with a background in music and dance.

Interestingly enough, Mrs. Mannix at first was not interested in the job. She responded to an ad because she wanted information on how she could enroll her own child in the program.

When the new franchise owners learned of her background, Mrs. Mannix was hired.

The Carmel program is still open, although it has been underway for some time. Cost will be pro-rated to $3.75 each session, she said.

More information and schedule are available from Mrs. Mannix at 624-8095.

Gymboree was started by Joan Barnes of Marin County, who first called it "Kindergym."

The concept of a program where parents could play with their children under supervision and also share their experiences with other parents soon became popular.

When she changed the name to Gymboree in 1979, Ms. Barnes decided to franchise the business. There are programs across California, Arizona and Nevada.

The Carmel program is part of the Gymboree of the Monterey Peninsula, which includes franchises in Aptos and Pacific Grove.

The director of the program is Julie Niland and her partner is Linda Diehl.

Bad news on water project funds

A new wrinkle has developed in the Carmel Sanitary District water reclamation project, but it is over the same old issue—money.

State Water Resources Control Board officials informed the district they do not intend to entirely fund an increase in design costs.

Carmel has applied for an additional $325,000 because lengthy project delays caused the original design costs to increase to $1.622 million.

The state agreed that the costs have increased, but indicated it would only pay an additional $138,000 up to a maximum $1.438 million for the entire design.

District Manager Michael Zambory, board President Ken McGinnis and engineer Dick Dowd met with state officials Tuesday (May 25) and presented arguments to support the cost increase.

State officials took the information under advisement and indicated they would contact Zambory when a decision is reached.

If the state rejects the cost projections, Zambory said the sanitary board will have to decide how to pay the additional $185,000. One option would be to take the monies of the district general fund, he said.

Zambory said "lengthy delays" by the state itself, and changes in the design caused the cost increase.

Zambory said a 50 percent report on the design was sent to the state more than four months ago but still has not been reviewed.

Once the design portion of the project is completed and financing obtained, construction will begin on the estimated $18.2 million water reclamation project.

The project was designed to comply with a state mandate that Carmel stop discharge of effluent into Carmel Bay between May and October.

Carmel Bay has been designated an Area of Special Biological Significance.

County to hear requests for condo conversion

THE MONTEREY COUNTY Planning Commission is scheduled to consider a request to convert 15 Carmel Valley apartment units into condominiums June 9.

The planning commission is to determine whether an environmental impact report is required for the proposed conversion at 38 Village Drive in Carmel Valley Village.

Anne Nyman, the owner of the property, has requested that the parcel be re-zoned from R-4 (multiple-family residential) to ST (special treatment) to permit the conversion.

An environmental determination — scheduled for 9 a.m., Wednesday June 9 in the county courthouse in Salinas — is the first step toward approval, said Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon.

Re-zoning of the property, consideration of a use permit, and subdivision map approval would follow the environmental determination, Slimmon said.

Planning staff has recommended that an environmental impact report be prepared.

Public Notices

NOTICE OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO EXTEND FOR ONE YEAR INTERIM ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 81-23 PROHIBITING USES OR REGULATING USES WHICH MAY BE IN CONFLICT WITH CONTEMPLATED ZONING PROPOSALS WHICH MAY RESULT FROM THE REVISION OF THE CITY'S GENERAL PLAN. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Government Code Section 65856 and 65858 that a Public Hearing will be held before the City Council on June 15, 1982 to determine if Interim Zoning Ordinance No. 81-23 should be extended for another year commencing August 2, 1982 at midnight and extending through August 2, 1983. Ordinance No. 81-23 prohibits uses and regulates uses within the City pending the revision of the General Plan of the City and adoption of ordinances implementing the General Plan. Since the General Plan applies to all zoning districts within the City, the interim zoning ordinance may prohibit or regulate any use permitted or conditionally permitted at this time in any zoning district. Anyone desiring to be heard on what uses should or should not be prohibited or regulated may appear and speak. Any person wanting a copy of interim zoning Ordinance No. 81-23 may obtain one at the City Hall, East side of Monte Verde between Ocean and Seventh Avenues.

If Ordinance No. 81-23 is extended, it would remain in effect until it rescinded upon the adoption of the General Plan and the implementing zoning ordinances or until August 2, 1983 at midnight unless further extended.

The Public Hearing shall be held at the Carmel City Hall, East Side of Monte Verde Street, between Ocean and Seventh Avenues, Carmel-by-the-Sea, California at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, June 15, 1982.

Council will hear annexation report

THE CARMEL City Council will be brought up to date on the proposed annexation of the Carmel Woods area when it meets at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 1 at city hall.

City Administrator Doug Peterson is to present the council with detailed reports on property tax transfers, pre-zoning, and water allocations involved in annexation.

Carmel Woods residents who favor annexation to the city of Carmel have filed a petition with the Local Agency Formation Commission as a formal request to begin annexation proceedings.

The council is scheduled to give second reading to an ordinance passed at the May 18 session to restrict beach activities on the Fourth of July. The measure regulates the size of fires and restricts parking in the beach area.

A calendar for preparation and adoption of the 1982-83 budget will be distributed to council members by the city administrator. The council is to receive status report from City Atty. George Brehmer on the Carmel Valley Master Plan environmental impact report, and on the appeal by Carmel of a use permit issued to Paul Kagan and Associates for offices at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

*Animals need exercise,
just like people*

By JUDITH A. EISNER

MANY AMERICAN PETS, like many Americans, are under-exercised. Fortunate indeed is the dog who belongs to an active, outdoor master who regularly takes him along hiking, biking or jogging. He's the lucky dog whose muscles ripple beneath his coat, whose wind is strong, who never refuses a good dinner because of overfeeding and underwork.

Since most breeds of dog were developed for some specific purpose, some form of work or activity is natural to them. Oddly enough, the toy breeds, although not "working dogs" in the usual sense, are often the best exercised (if most overfed) dogs. That's because they are small enough to exercise by chasing a ball across the living room a few times a day.

A dog in top physical condition has marvelous stamina. He can trot for miles, day in and day out, without seeming to tire. A good analogy can be seen in the dog's close cousin, the coyote, who frequently travels 20 or 30 miles through his territory on a night's hunting expedition. Coyotes are never overweight!

A working sheep or cattle dog, whose daily life includes miles of moving over varied terrain, is usually in better shape and stronger than his coddled cousin. His coat may be thick with burrs, but his muscles are in top tone underneath.

Domestic dogs, as well as their wild brothers, are essentially lazy animals once past playful puppyhood. They don't need much coaxing to lie about the house or yard, dozing away most of the day. There are, of course, several notable exceptions — primarily the supercharged terrier breeds — who rarely seem to be out of motion. But the average dog is as lazy as his owner; a life of sedentary TV watching suits them both.

You have all seen dogs that lie about all day, occasionally raising their heads to investigate some sound, but hardly ever changing their position over many hours. When their master comes home and they are let inside, they curl up in a favorite spot indoors. Some dog's life!

IDEALLY, your dog should receive some real exercise every day. We're not sure how good a one-day outing to the beach really is. Certainly, the dog seems to enjoy it, but he cannot derive any sustained benefit from one day of over-exertion and six days of lethargy.

City dogs are often better-exercised than country dogs simply because they must be walked several times a day for the purpose of relieving themselves. Even those who don't get enough exercise through their necessary airings can be exercised by a group of enterprising people, the professional dog-walkers. For a fee, a city dog can be walked for an hour or two every day.

Good exercise for dogs, like good exercise for humans, should be some kind of sustained activity. A quick romp with a ball is better than nothing, but it's hardly an exercise program.

Many of the country's top-winning show dogs undergo a program of "road work" to bring them into top condition. Road work can be walking at a good pace, trotting your dog beside a bicycle or beside you while you jog or sitting on the tailgate of a station wagon and trotting the dog behind.

Depending on the size of the dog, a set distance is covered daily — one, two or more miles, always at a steady trot. It is this routine, steady gait that builds muscle, wind and stamina. And the distance covered really exercises the dog (without exhausting him) and builds up his appetite and general well-being.

With summertime near and the days already longer, why not set up an exercise program for your dog?

HERE ARE SOME ground rules:

- Be sure the dog is in good general health with no serious or chronic disabilities. Road work is hardly recommended for elderly or seriously overweight dogs except with veterinary approval.
- Select an out-of-the-way street or route where traffic is at a minimum and where bicycling or jogging is relatively safe. Never exercise your dog off-leash where there is traffic!
- Exercise at cool hours of the day — early morning or late afternoon or early evening, when the sun is not at its fiercest.
- Start gradually. Begin with a half mile of trotting and work up, in a week's time, to a mile. Allow another week before going to a mile and a half and so on.
- Check the dog after he exercises. He should not be exhausted or panting excessively. Examine his feet. Lazy dogs usually have soft feet that must gradually harden to take the abrasion of pavement. Be sure he has no cuts, thorns or sores. If he does, abandon the exercise until the problem is solved.

• Do not water a hot dog right after exercise. Allow him to "cool off" for at least 15 minutes before permitting him a moderate drink. And don't give him ice water!

If you keep up the program regularly, at least five days a week, week in and week out, you will see many improvements. Overweight dogs will work off the surplus poundage, providing you don't overfeed; you may see changes in coat sheen and quality, in personality, in general zest. You will see strong, healthy muscle tissue on your dog's body and a broadening and deepening of the chest may occur.

Exercise is beneficial to every part of your dog — including the organs you don't see. And if you keep to a regular program of walking, biking or jogging; you'll find that the exercise benefits the dog's owner just as much!

BARTER BUREAU HEAD EXPLAINS DETAILS OF HOW GROUP WORKS

The Carmel Barter Bureau is now at work, listing the offerings of those customers who have appeared, and their wants. We announce that we are open for business, and need a lot of customers.

The success of our attempt to restore the circulation of goods and all kinds of labor, from unskilled work to professional services, by substituting direct barter for buying and selling with money (which no one seems to have) depends directly upon the variety of wants and offerings which customers bring to the Barter Bureau.

Dentistry and firewood, furniture and nursing, carpentry and medicine cannot be exchanged unless some customer has one to give and another customer has another. We ask everyone who has anything to exchange for anything else, to barter and trade through the Bureau.

When you come in to offer your second-best bed for repair work on your car, you will be asked to pay ten cents. This is to cover the clerical costs and office expenses. It is this payment that puts you in the position of customers or patron, and gives you the right to demand and expect service. The service is that the Bureau puts you in contact with someone who can take what you offer and with someone who can hand you what you need. These may not be the same people — it is the Bureau's job to match clearing credits around like a bank or a clearing-house, using bookkeeping entries instead of money tokens.

CARMELITES PRAISED AT WRITERS' ASSEMBLY

Carmel influence glowed through the proceedings of the May 6-8 national writers' assembly in New York, the first ever held by the Authors' League in its forty-five year history. At the opening luncheon Moss Hart, president, credited the founders of the Organization with having improved the copyright laws and the condition of writers generally. He praised among others, Jesse Lynch Williams, Lincoln Steffens, and Bert Heron's cousin, Percy MacKaye. John Gunther (a relative of the Schoeningers) conducted the panel at which Michael Drury, a Stanford girl, spoke and at another panel Theodore White, author of The Stilwell Papers, made his own contribution. Jessamy West, when erroneously introduced as a Mid-west woman, insisted she was from California.

Nearly five hundred writers from across the country attended, including Glenn Clairmonte, former Carmelite, now a resident of New York City. The late James Hopper of Carmel was twice president of the Authors' Guild of the Authors' League of America.

BOOK PUBLICATION PARTY IS WALKING HISTORY OF PENINSULA

The party that Chronicle Books and the Thunderbird Bookstore gave Sunday to celebrate the publication of Augusta Fink's new book, Monterey: The Presence of the Past, was like a "walking Monterey Peninsula history party," says May Waldroup of the Thunderbird.

Many members of the History and Art Association of Monterey were among the 150 persons who enjoyed the late afternoon gathering.

Seen at the celebration were Peninsula old-timers such as Mrs. A.W. Elkinton, William Keeler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meadows, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Emmett McMenamin, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Arriola of Carmel, Morley Baer of Big Sur, Mrs. Winifred Beaumont, Admiral and Mrs. C. Tod Singleton, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. K. Shields, Col. and Mrs. W. Chapman of Pebble Beach and Ruth Watson of Carmel.

Also down from San Francisco for the party was the editor of Chronicle Books, Phelps Dewey and his wife. Authoress Augusta Fink lives in Carmel.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

Bob Horn of 470 Brookdale Drive, who for several years added a major share of winning points to Barracuda Diving Team championship trophies and who last year coached the team during the summer recreation program, has been named for honors in the 1972 edition of Outstanding College Athletes of America. Coaches and athletic directors from colleges and universities across the nation nominate outstanding athletes on the basis of their displayed abilities not only in athletics but also in community services and strength of character, leadership and scholarship.

Bob, currently Monterey Peninsula College springboard diver, has won the Coast (JC) Conference diving crown on both the one and three meter boards for the past two years. In addition, Bob recently participated in the state swimming and diving championship meet held at Huntington Beach where he qualified for All American honors by placing 5th on the 1-meter and 7th on the 3-meter board.

OLD CARMEL SETS BENEFIT TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Old Carmel is sponsoring Carmel's First Annual Benefit Tennis Tournament.

The tournament will be mixed doubles for adults and doubles tournament for juniors ages 11 through 18.

Old Carmel's Senior Citizen Committee feels there is a need to establish a non-profit residential care home in Carmel for Carmel senior citizens on fixed-incomes. The home would be for "in between" seniors who are not quite able to exist alone, but are far from the complete dependence of a nursing home.

The benefits from this tennis tournament will start a fund to establish such a facility for the "in between" seniors. One Old Carmel member explained that the home could prevent the "final dehumanizing step" that a nursing home, with all its changes, means to a senior citizen.

Library cutbacks

compensatory days, there will be additional staff during regular work days, she said.

Ms. Richter also pointed out that the library is open Monday through Thursday evenings and Saturdays, which gives working patrons ample time to use the library.

She told trustees that the average book circulation is about 25 to 30 volumes per hour on Sundays and 35 to 40 volumes per hour on other days.

Ms. Richter said Monterey Public Library, which is the only other peninsula library facility open on Sundays, circulates about 170 books per hour.

There is also less patronage on holidays because "many people believe we are closed," she said.

The board voted to follow the city holiday closing schedule. Days that the library will be closed are: New Year's, Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Memorial Day, July 4, Labor Day, Admission Day, Veteran's Day, Christmas Day, and either the day before or day after Christmas.

Previously the library was closed only on New Year's, Memorial Day, July 4, Labor Day and Christmas Day. If the holiday falls on a weekend, such as the July Fourth on Sunday this year, the library will close the following Monday, Ms. Richter said.

Trustees, in an attempt to bolster employee morale, also decided to send a message to the workers that stated that they do not foresee further staff reductions at this time.

And, included in the proposed 1982-83 budget, is money for an 8 percent pay hike.

However, trustees were quick to point out that they did not endorse an eight percent hike, but only included it as a safeguard.

Usually trustees grant employees the same pay increase that is given to city workers by the council.

The council has final authority over the library budget.

Crime prevention is topic of talk

A breakfast meeting of the Carmel Business Association is scheduled for 8 a.m. Thursday, June 3 at La Playa Hotel, Eighth and Camino Real, Carmel.

Carmel Police Chief John McGilvray, Sheriff Bud Cook and District Attorney Bill Curtis will discuss crime prevention and security. Members of the business community and the public are welcome.

For further information, phone 624-2522.

Locals get high on the hog

By TERRI LEE ROBBE

High—High On The Hog!

Local folks were out en masse to sip champagne and munch on canapes when Liz McKinney and Anita Hare held a reception at their new hair studio last Friday evening.

The studio has actually been tagged High On The Hog and is located upstairs above the Hog's Breath Inn.

More than 100 friends dropped by to wish the ladies success in their new venture and to delight over the interior design created by Charles Gothwell who recently opened his own company here on the Peninsula. They included Clint Eastwood — owner of the Hog's Breath Inn — who stayed for dinner with the group.

The studio is light and airy with grey slate floors and rose-colored walls. Charles says he took his ideas from a basic early California look and that the studio "has soft, tranquil space and a feeling of Santa Fe, New Mexico. It has the class of Carmel but in a new direction and I'm hoping the people in this area will move towards this direction in decorating—clean, fresh and simple."

Anita is from the Big Sur Coast and has lived in this area all of her life. Liz has lived here for about eight years. Both are delighted with the location of their shop and were in a festive mood as they welcomed guests.

Friends who dropped by to congratulate Liz and Anita included George Brook-Kothlow, Jeffrey Levin, Pat Qualls, Pat and Mark Cunningham, Richard Rombach (Charles' partner), Sandra Meyrose, Cole Weston, Lois Marshall, Chris Armanasco and husband David (who manages Durney Vineyards in Carmel Valley), Barbara and Fernando Batista, Peterson Conway, Sandy and Terrence Farrell, Tricia Alioti and Susan Negri.

MRS. ROBERT STANTON HONORED

Lovely and multi-talented Mrs. Robert (Virginia) Stanton of Carmel Valley has been elected to the Board of Directors of San Rafael's Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. The announcement was recently made by William F. Hamilton, president of the organization.

Hamilton said Virginia was unanimously elected to serve on the 21-member board in recognition of her outstanding contributions to the organization through the years. During her tenure as chairwoman of the Monterey County Guide Dog Committee, she steered the group through several successful benefits. And she has given unselfishly of her time and talents in personal endeavors for Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Mrs. Stanton will be welcomed by her fellow directors at the next bi-monthly meeting on Monday, June 7, preceding the 11 a.m. annual meeting which is open to the membership.

Congratulations Virginia!

ANNUAL SPRING COCKTAIL PARTY

The warm weather added to the festive atmosphere at the Carmel Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mark Thomas where the Friends of the Monterey Institute of International Studies held its annual Spring Cocktail Party yesterday.

CELEBRATING the opening of High on the Hog were partners Anita Hare (left) and Liz McKinney, who tried to avoid being splashed by the champagne held by Charles Gruwell.

PHILL SNOWDON and Bobbi Brice-Harrigan mugged at the reception.

The affair drew about 200 people who mingled on the Thomas' large brick patio and enjoyed their home, which is tastefully decorated with beautiful family antiques.

Mrs. Thomas, who helped organize the "Friends" and who has been involved actively with the Institute for many years, created lovely garden flower arrangements for the party.

Volunteers from the "Friends" provided a bountiful and delicious buffet.

BOB TO GO FISHING... SKEE TO TAKE OVER

Congratulations are in order for both Chief Robert Meloney and "Captain" Frederick "Skee" Stanley II of the Carmel Highlands Fire Department.

As of July 1, Captain Stanley will be promoted to fire chief while Chief Bob will retire to "go fishing and wear my boat out!"

Chief Bob and his wife, Betty, own some property in the mountains in northwestern Pennsylvania. They plan to put a mobile home on the property and sit back and watch the hustle-bustle world go by.

Chief Bob said that he doesn't know whether or not he looks forward to retirement.

"I've never tried it so at least it will be something new," he said, adding that he has no intentions of "crawling in a hole." He says he may try some kind of work but "it won't be full time and there won't be any schedules."

The Meloneys moved to California in 1964 and to the Carmel area two years later. Bob has been chief of the Carmel Highlands Fire Department for the past nine years. He and Betty plan to leave the area around July 1, which leaves plenty of time for them to enjoy the retirement party which will be given in Bob's honor on June 6.

Party guests will include friends of both Bob and Skee as well as Carmel Highlands residents who donated money during the recent "fire fund" drive to keep the fire department running with a full staff. Highlands resident Phillip Grey spearheaded the program which brought more than $35,000 in donations.

Cedric Rowntree, chairman of the board of directors of the fire district, had bouquets for Betty Meloney and called her "the leading light" of the Carmel Highlands Fire Department's annual rummage sale.

Proceeds from the sale benefit the citizens of the fire district as much of the money is used to buy first aid equipment for the rescue truck. "A large portion of our calls are for first aid," he said.

Chief Bob said he has great confidence in Captain Stanley and believes he will do a terrific job. Skee joined the fire department Jan. 13, 1973 and was promoted to captain Jan. 1, 1978. Before that he was with the California Department of Forestry in Monterey County.

The party will be held from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and you can bet that along with all the gourmet hors d'oeuvres and bubbly, there will be some sad "goodbys."

Our best to Bob and Betty and our congratulations to Skee!

Peninsula, and in addition to keep the public informed of the needs and financial support necessary to maintain Hospice.

A committee has been formed consisting of Doris Bringsjord as chairperson and Dorothy Capen, Shelly Leo, Madge McFarland, Helen Smith, Liz Tyner and Georgia Von Richter.

The committee met and made recommendations to the board of directors of Hospice about the structure of the new organization. After it met for several weeks, the committee recommended that since it is basically a supportive group for Hospice, it should open membership to any person interested in furthering the work, aims and programs of Hospice.

This committee presented the board with a recommended set of bylaws and suggested that the board of directors of Hospice appoint the first board of directors of the "Friends" until this organization became fully established.

The recommended bylaws were adopted at the May 11 luncheon and the board of directors of Hospice announced the new board and officers of "Friends." They are: Dorothy Capen, president; William Cowan, treasurer; Pat Moore, secretary; and members David Dennison, Artie Early, Lee Fonseca, Walter Frietas, Grace Johnson, Rosalind Kidder, Shelly Leo, Marge Rothenberg, Yvonne Saunders, Mini Sours, Audrey Starr, Liz Tyner, Georgia Von Richter, and Doris Bringsjord.

PATTY LORD RECEIVES AWARD

Patty Lord, a former volleyball, basketball and diving student at Robert Louis Stevenson School, now attends Tufts University in Medford, Mass., and recently received an award for the Most Improved Performer at the Tufts swimming banquet at the James House Restaurant in Medford.

Patty, the daughter of Janet and John Lord of Carmel Valley, scored in every diving event as the Tufts women's team scored a 9-1 dual meet record and a second place finish in the New England Nest this winter. She set a Tufts record for one-meter diving, 349.65, while finishing second and also placed third in three-meter diving, 347.95, in the New England meet.

Despite a hand injury, she also placed seventh in the one-meter event, 293.64 at the NCAA Meet, where Tufts placed sixth.

Mary Kay Finnerty, women's swimming coach at Tufts has this to say of Patty: "She is the hardest working freshman I've ever coached. She had never dived competitively off the three-meter board and she had a much smaller list of dives off the one-meter board when she arrived this year. Yet, her hard work made her one of the nation's top small college competitors in both events by the end of the season."

Patty is one of 21 letter winners who will be returning to the Tufts team next season.

CARMEL VALLEY WOMEN'S CLUB TO HOLD INSTALLATION LUNCHEON

The Carmel Valley Women's Club will hold its annual installation luncheon at Fox Hill Restaurant, Carmel Valley Inn at noon on June 2.

New officers to be installed are: Mrs. Virginia Card, president; Mrs. Robert Grant, first vice-president; Mrs. Dick Overman, second vice-president; Mrs. Warren Bramhall, recording secretary; Mrs. Loise Morris, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lester Litwiller, financial secretary; and Mrs. Ralph Morrow, treasurer.

Directors to be installed are: Mrs. Dorothy Gonzenbach, Mrs. Charles Guilford, Mrs. Theo Mirani, Mrs. John Allen and Mrs. Gordon Wells.

The program titled "Air-A-Parent" will include a collection of readings from literature on relations between father and son. These will be performed by Jeffrey Thompson and Philip Clarkson.

Thompson is a graduate in theatre from State University College, Plattsburgh, N.Y. Clarkson is a former dean and drama professor. Both have appeared in recent productions by the Staff Players at the Indoor Forest Theater, Carmel.

Incoming president, Mrs. Virginia Card, is a graduate of Marlborough School in Los Angeles and UCLA. She is a member of the Monterey Peninsula Alumna Club of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mrs. Card has been a freelance writer and has contributed many articles to the home section of the Los Angeles Times as well as to national magazines. She was a regular contributor to the San Diego Sun and the Santa Monica Outlook.

She founded the Fine Arts Committee of the Assistance League in Hollywood and also the fine arts section of the Santa Monica Assistance League. She also served as president.

She was a founding member of Las Floristas, which presents the floral Headdress Ball annually in Los Angeles.

A widow, Mrs. Card has two children. Her son, Ben F. Card, a trial lawyer, lives in Laguna Beach. Her daughter, Valerie Spaulding, lives in Carmel Valley. Mrs. Card has three grandchildren.

She moved to Carmel Valley from Santa Monica about three years ago and one of her interests for the past year and one-half is her weekly French conversation class.

MONTEREY BAY PANHELLENIC LUNCHEON

Monterey Bay Panhellenic members held their annual luncheon with election and installation of officers at the Beach and Tennis Club of Pebble Beach on May 22.

Included in the program was the presentation of the Panhellenic scholarship to a local college sorority girl.

The Monterey Bay Alumnae Panhellenic is composed of sorority alumnae from approximately 17 college national sororities representing about 50 universities and colleges.

Panhellenic is a non-profit organization which provides assistance to prospective sorority girls and scholarships to active members.

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS ANNUAL LUNCHEON

The Carmel Woman's Club will hold its annual luncheon meeting June 7. The members want to thank their fellow member, Mrs. John Bissell, for her generosity in volunteering to pick up the tab for the food served at the luncheon.

There's just one catch: Mrs. Bissell has decreed that all members not fortunate enough to be 70 years of age or older must pay a forfeit and you can't get around that fact by offering to "sing for your supper."

All fees collected will be added to the club treasury.

LEE GEIGER RECEIVES B.A. DEGREE

Lee Geiger of Carmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geiger of Sacramento, was among the 206 graduates who received B.A. degrees at the Thirty-Fifth Annual Commencement at Claremont McKenna College on Sunday, May 16.

Lee will be employed by Lloyds Bank of California in Los Angeles as a corporate lender trainee. While at CMC his activities included secretary of the Claremont Economics Association, participation in the Washington Economic Policy Semester and winner of an honorary varsity letter.

PUBLIC INVITED TO ROSE GARDEN TEA

The Women's Association of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, located one mile from Highway 1 on Carmel Valley Road, will hold a rose garden tea from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 29.

Hostesses will be members of the Women's Association with Frances Hickey, Olive Austen, Erma Behrent and Eleanor Livingston in charge of the tea.

An exhibit of color photos of the roses will be displayed by Dr. Zoltan Vasvary and Dr. James Knight.

Incidental music will be played in the sanctuary for guests who care to walk the paths in the garden which was planted initially by the Reverend Howard Bull, minister emeritus. The garden is now cared for by a group of Rosarians, headed by George Conn and Chris Hansen, custodian.

LESLIE RAY

Leslie Ray graduates

Leslie Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ray of Monterey, will graduate from Sonoma State University with a B.A. in Psychology on May 28. She has been on the deans list with a grade point average of 3.8 of a possible 4.00. Miss Ray plans to study with Janet Hurley, MFCC, of Carmel Valley for her M.A. in psychology.

Ms. Ray was born in Carmel when her father was a State Park Ranger stationed at Point Lobos Reserve State Park. Her father is area manager for State Department of Parks and Recreation.

Her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Patrick settled in Carmel in 1947. Virginia and Sharyn, her sisters, attended Bay School in the early 1950's. Virginia Ray-Geoghegan is presently employed at The Pine Cone.

Ms. Ray graduated from Monterey High School and attended MPC before she transferred to Sonoma.

Carmel Valley fire department to hold annual ball June 5

The Carmel Valley Fire Department's 34th Annual Fireman's Ball is scheduled for 9 p.m.-1:30 a.m. Saturday, June 5 at Hidden Valley Music Seminars, Carmel Valley Rd., Carmel Valley. There will be dancing and a no-host bar.

Last year fire fighters voluntarily responded to 123 fire calls and 184 medical emergencies on a 24-hour basis. Of the $41,006,734 assessed property value within the Carmel Valley Fire Protection District, the total loss by fire was $15,050 which endangered property worth an additional $167,500 which might have otherwise been lost.

More than 5,000 hours of volunteers' time was spent with in these responses in addition to attending specialized classes of continual training involving the use of a variety of complex life and property saving equipment.

Tax-deductible admission is $5 for singles and $8 for couples. Checks should be made payable to Valley Volunteers and mailed to Carmel Valley Fire Department, Valley Volunteers, Inc., P.O. Box 965, Carmel Valley, CA 93924. Tickets may be purchased at the fire department, Via Contenta Rd., Carmel Valley, or at the door the night of the ball. No one under 21 may attend.

For additional information, phone 659-2021.

ARMSTEAD SELECTED

Karen Armstead, a junior at Carmel High School, has been accepted by the National High School Institute in Evanston, Ill. where she will study journalism July 4 to Aug. 7.

Karen, the daughter of Robert and Mary Armstead of Carmel, will be the first student from Carmel High to participate in this program.

Applicants to the Institute are selected on the basis of ability in the area they wish to study, academic achievement and character.

Audubon Society supports Farr bill

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society has endorsed state legislation to ban the use of steel jaw traps used to capture fur-bearing animals, said Jo Stallard, president.

AB 2600, authored by Assemblyman Sam Farr (Carmel), would outlaw the traps, except for farmers and ranchers threatened by predators, by certain government agencies and for use during epidemics of animal-transmitted diseases.

Animal humane groups oppose use of the traps because they are inherently cruel and painful and because domestic animals and even humans have been severely injured by the powerful jaws of the traps.

The Audubon Society seeks petition signatures in support of this bill. More information is available from the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, P.O. Box 5656, Carmel, 93921.

Supervisors to hold Master Plan EIR report hearing on Tuesday

THE MONTEREY COUNTY Board of Supervisors has scheduled a continued public hearing on the environmental impact report for the Carmel Valley Master Plan at 10 a.m., Tuesday, June 1.

Fifth District Supervisor William Peters of Carmel Valley plans to present the board with an analysis of conflicting mitigation measures in the EIR.

The document was prepared under a Monterey County Superior Court order which resulted from a legal challenge to the Carmel Valley Master Plan by the city of Carmel.

Supervisors may also give an indication June 1 whether they think more consideration should be given to environmental controls in the form of "trigger mechanisms" as suggested by the city of Carmel.

Once the environmental impact report is certified, it will be used by the county to revise the 1980 master plan in accord with the latest environmental information.

A court-ordered moratorium on discretionary building permits in Carmel Valley is in effect until July, or until the plan is revised and readopted.

General Plan Committee to meet on June 3

An expanded General Plan Advisory Committee will continue its review of the housing element when it meets at 7:30 p.m. June 3 at city hall.

Eight new members and three alternates were appointed to the committee by the city council last week and most of them appeared at the group's first discussion on the housing element May 20.

The original members of the committee previously indicated they felt 15 members would be too many. Members said they would prefer to enlist a number of alternates who would be placed on a "waiting" list.

However, the city council decided it would prefer to see the committee enlarged because several original members would be absent off and on during the summer months.

Three of the original members-Jane Mayer, Dottie Lillard and Gene Hammond-were absent from the May 20 committee session.

New committee members are: Royal Adams, June Wood, Anne Woolworth, James Billwiller, Edwin Lee, Lloyd Morain, Helen Robinson, and Dr. C. Robert Petit.

The new alternates are: Susanna Evans, Hazel Mohler and Margot Hyatt.

At its May 20 session, the committee reviewed the first draft of the housing element, but did not formally reach a consensus on the proposed policies.

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Letters are subject to editing for style and length. Each letter must contain name, address and signature. A phone number is needed for verification only. Anonymous letters are not accepted.

'A broad understanding'

Dear Editor:

When they support William Melendez for County Superintendent of Schools, voters will be choosing a candidate with a broad understanding of the actual educational operations as well as the needs of the whole county. He lives in Monterey, he has taught in the Salinas schools, and his present position administering the extensive program for the children of migrant workers in Monterey County makes him familiar with the whole area.

While it has no direct bearing on his fine qualifications for the office, it may be of interest to voters that Mrs. Melendez is a teacher in Pacific Grove, and her father, who is writing this letter, is a retired college professor.

Supports Phil Nash

Dear Editor:

The duties and responsibilities of the Monterey County Superintendent of Schools are at least fourfold. He or she meets with the county board of education and serves as an information source and advisor on county-wide issues. He/she provides basic fiscal and audiovisual services to all districts in the county, assuring all districts of quality education.

He/she is responsible for in-service teacher training at all levels (nursery to community college), thereby keeping our teachers apprised of recent developments in educational theory and delivery. And, he/she is charged with responsibility for our more than 5,000 students in this county with special instructional needs.

To perform these charges we need someone with varied experience in public education, imagination to explore new ways of doing things, and the ambition and concern to keep the needs of our students foremost in his/her mind. This is why I'm supporting Phil Nash for Monterey County Superintendent of Schools.

Opposed to freeway

Dear Editor:

"As the Bard once said: "What fools we mortals be" and a recent case in point is this last ditch (after 20 years) push for the Hatton Canyon freeway.

Natives, imports and tourists where are your brains? The goose that lays the golden eggs (Carmel and its natural environs) can be killed or in other words become like any other place, given enough development and big city-like adaptations. Carmel, a much blessed small town with its mild climate, clean air, easily grown vegetation and fortunate location on the edge of the cold blue Pacific Ocean, is the mecca for many and known of around the world because former aficionados (i.e. Robinson Jeffers, etc.) appreciated and tried to preserve what God so generously has given it in large measure.

If one enjoys these fortunate attributes then why not travel a little slower and really savor every Monterey Cypress; Toyon Berry and Monterey pine in their grand magnificence while breathing the pure oxygen they are all emitting for our healthful benefit? Who has ever lived very long by breathing carbon monoxide—that's what more cars traveling faster can and do emit.

The Hatton Canyon is a very pretty natural green space a little off the beaten track, a piece of land where many native wild birds and mammals live and native wild plants grow as God intended them to do. Some of the young people from Carmel High School use this canyon as a safe alternative way to return to their homes and to ride horseback.

Certainly the property owners in Carmel Valley have a right to develop their land, but why sacrifice a quiet and beautiful harmless little canyon to do so via easier access? "The Greedies" are everywhere and have spoiled many a scenic spot and then moved on. The sad losses they've caused will only be realized and regretted by the youth of the future. As Golda Meir said: "How sad when children do not know what a flower looks like."

This can also apply to drinking fresh water without raw sewage and strong chemicals from a crystal stream, clean sand for your bare toes to wriggle in without broken glass from wine and beer bottles. Fresh air smells strange to big industrial city children because of the lack of all the gases and other impurities their unfortunate noses have had to become accustomed to breathing.

Please do not widen overburdened Highway 1, (as we have gone about as far as we can go without having our own private four lane "Blood Alley"), nor build the Hatton Canyon freeway, but travel a little slower (or return to your hurried big city life.) Come rest and relax and enjoy what is still left of Carmel's naturally endowed beauty and remember the people have caused their own bottleneck on this same piece of Highway 1 by much seductively persuasive advertising and worshipping of the wrong green—our ever shrinking U.S. dollar.

Wake up, you great intelligent, silent and sleeping majority and realize that the important green in Carmel is its trees and plants, for it's essentially a small village nestled in a real and living forest and if it were really good for Carmel we'd have had the freeway in use a long time ago. The Audubon Society and the Sierra Club — where are you?

Janet W. Crego

Keep right-of-way

Dear Editor:

We urge the state not to dispose of the Hatton Canyon property. It is needed for a highway now, not at some indefinite time later.

It is widely recognized that the traffic situation on Highway 1 between Ocean Avenue and Carmel Valley Road has become intolerable. Widening the highway to increase the capacity is impractical for the following reasons: (a) a large amount of cut and fill is required, as well as the destruction of 300 mature trees (b) access to the highway from Mesa, Atherton and South Carmel Hills Roads would be even more difficult with two lanes of traffic to cut across. (c) During the period of construction, there are no adequate detours to allow traffic to bypass the area.

Further, if the property is sold for development, the next effect will be that of dumping more vehicles onto a highway already badly overloaded. Much, if not most, of the traffic on Highway 1 in the area under discussion is headed toward or from Carmel Valley. Only an additional road can hope to ease that situation.

It was generally known and widely discussed from 1960 on that a highway was to be built in Hatton Canyon; those building or buying a house could not have missed hearing this.

Where's the pride?

Dear Editor:

I went to play tennis the other day at Carmel High School so I thought I would take a trip down memory lane and walk around the campus as I did so many times from 1960 to 1963 during the time I went to school there.

My heart was saddened as I looked at the unkempt grounds, litter, walls marked up and falling apart. The campus didn't look like that when I went to school then. I was terribly disappointed and disgusted. I know that kids will be kids and certainly we were not angels but we had pride in our school and so did the faculty. What happened?

*A serious note
at pops concert*

By LYN BRONSON

Once again that time of year was at hand when the Monterey County Symphony plays its annual pops concert on the grounds of the Naval Postgraduate School.

During the course of the concert last Sunday afternoon, two representatives of the symphony, Maestro Taeuber, its conductor, and Hildegard Mitchell, president of the Monterey Peninsula Symphony Guild, took the occasion to address the crowd on a somewhat serious note.

They both wanted to remind the audience that although this free pops concert is the last event in the symphony's season, one of its most important functions is to reach a much larger audience than its regular subscription audience in the hope it will bring in new subscribers for next year's season.

And there was no question that the pops concert reaches a much larger audience. A traffic control officer on the scene estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 people were in attendance, spread out on the grass of the vast lawns of Hermann Hall at the Navy School. And what a perfect day it was for the event! Had it been held one week earlier it could have been a gloomy affair, but mother nature smiled on the Monterey County Symphony that day.

Walking around the grounds before the concert and observing families enjoying a leisurely picnic under sunny skies, one was struck by the number of young children aged five to 10 who met and played with other children of the same age. Some of these children were probably hearing classical music for the first time in a live concert, and there was a wonderfully relaxed atmosphere about it.

Among the adults there were lots of new faces not regularly seen at King Hall or Sunset Center at subscription concerts, thus the whole pops concert format seems to make a good deal of sense.

As always at this annual outdoor concert, the sound suffers from the amplification system used. But, of course, the ear quickly adjusts and begins to accept it. Planes pass over after takeoff from the Monterey Peninsula Airport tend to be disturbing, although after a while even that annoyance wears off.

Every year at this time Maestro Taeuber seems to be his most relaxed and charming self as he talks to the audience and introduced each piece. For instance, he related a story about meeting Arthur Fiedler in Canada and being advised "always start with a Sousa March - after that you can play anything."

And in rapid sequence, Taeuber introduced Sousa's El Capitan March, The Blue Danube Waltz by Strauss, two selections to honor the Navy for the use of its campus - Navy Blue and Gold, and Anchors Aweigh, Rossini's William Tell Overture, Persian March by Strauss, a medley from My Fair Lady, the Colonel Bogey March, Roses from the South by Strauss, and to wind it all up in a spectacular manner a rousing version of the Stars and Stripes Forever.

Well, there was something for everybody. It was a popular event and it served a good cause.

year promises to be a very interesting one indeed.

For the first time the symphony will be host to a guest conductor, Jim Setapen, a graduate of Eastman School of Music and the Cleveland Institute of Music. Setapen has served as assistant conductor of the Oakland Symphony, music director of the Alabama Chamber Orchestra and Principal Conductor of the Cleveland Opera Theater. At present Setapen is the Exxon/Arts Endowment Conductor with the Denver Symphony.

The Romeros, internationally renowned Spanish classical guitarists, Caledonia Romero and his three sons, will be the Symphony's first soloists of the season in October and have elected to play their own arrangement of Concert Music for 4 Guitars and Orchestra.

Korean-born Young-Uck Kim, one of the gifted artist in the generation of violinists which rose to prominence in the early 1960's, will appear as soloist in the Saint-Saens Violin Concerto No. 3 in November. On this same program guest conductor Setapen will be introducing an unfamiliar work "The Lonesome Hollow" by Ellie Siegmeister.

Later in the season French oboist Maurice Bourgue will be the featured soloist in works for oboe and orchestra by Haydn and Kalliwoda. Bourgue is a founding member of the Orchestra de Paris, where he is principal oboist and soloist.

The remaining three soloists for the season are pianists. A most welcome return will be that of Anthony di Bonaventura, who has played several times on the Monterey Peninsula and gave us a brilliant, masterful performance of the Beethoven Fourth Concerto approximately 10 years ago in the Symphony's concert honoring the dedication of the Avery Tomkins Memorial Steinway piano. Di Bonaventura has made some excellent recordings of Debussy Etudes, Scarlatti Sonatas and miscellaneous piano music which have received high critical acclaim.

Juliana Markova, the Bulgarian-born pianist who made such a hit last year playing the Shostakovich Piano Concerto No. 2 will be returning as soloist in the Grieg Piano Concerto, a piece much recorded, but rarely heard live.

One of the most interesting artists to appear on the Symphony's series of concerts next season is the young pianist Steven Mayer, who is partially sponsored by the Xerox/Affiliate Artist Pianist Program. This program is designed to bring a pianist into a community for approximately two weeks during which time he will appear not only as a soloist in orchestra and recital engagements, but also for appearances on an informal basis for lecture/discussion groups, master classes and rap sessions with students in the community.

This is a most excellent program and the Monterey County Symphony can be justly proud of bringing this fine, young artist with fresh ideas to the Monterey Peninsula.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received at the Department of Transportation, 1120 N Street, Room 39, Sacramento, California 95814, until 2 o'clock p.m. on June 9, 1982, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in the Assembly Room at said address, for construction on State highway in accordance with the specifications therefor, to which special reference is made, as follows:

Monterey County, at various locations on Route 1 from 0.2-mile south of Carmel River Bridge to the Santa Cruz county line and on Route 68 at the Route 68/1 Separations (05-Mon-1,68-72.1/102.0, L4.0,R4.0), highway lighting to be modified by replacing luminaires, and replacing or modifying mast arms.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein. Plans, specifications, and proposal forms for bidding this project can only be obtained at the Department of Transportation, Plans and Bid Documents, Room 39, Transportation Building, 1120 N Street, P.O. Box 1499, Sacramento, California 95807 (phone 916-445-3325), and may be seen at the above office and at the offices of the District Directors of Transportation at Los Angeles, San Francisco, and the district in which the work is situated.

The successful bidder shall furnish a payment bond and a performance bond.

The Department of Transportation hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award.

Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done has been determined by the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations. These wage rates appear in the Department of Transportation publication entitled General Prevailing Wage Rates, dated March, 1982. Future effective wage rates which have been predetermined and are on file with the Department of Industrial Relations are referenced but not printed in said publication.

CHRONIC PAIN

If you are the unfortunate victim of chronic pain, or one of those told you will just have to learn to live with aches and pains...

Clinical studies indicate that nothing could be further from the truth. Most victims of pain could be helped if they were less willing to accept pain on a permanent basis. Dramatic results are now achieved without the use of conventional drugs or surgery.

Obituaries

William G. Cashman

William G. Cashman, Carmel, died May 15 at his home following a lengthy illness. He was 82.

Mr. Cashman was born Aug. 20, 1899, at Roxbury, Mass. He graduated from Cornell University and was a member of the Cornell Law Association and a veteran of World War I. He was a real estate broker and moved from Sherman Oaks to Carmel following his retirement in 1960.

Survivors include his wife, Jeanne; daughter, Ilene Cashman of Pacific Grove; sons, Philip Cashman of Tucson, Ariz., William C. Cashman of Carmel and Robert Hulbert of Pacific Grove; sister, Aloise O'Brien of Shaker Heights, Ohio; brothers, Eugene of Wilmington, Del., and John C. of Naples, Fla.; three grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Betty F. Antoncich

Betty F. Antoncich, Carmel Valley, died May 15 at her home after a long illness. She was 68.

Mrs. Antoncich was born in Seattle, Wash., and graduated from the University of Washington.

She moved to the Peninsula with her husband in 1942, where she first taught at Monterey Union High School before moving to Carmel Valley in 1953. She opened the Playtime Nursery School, which she operated for many years.

Mrs. Antoncich was active in church affairs and community life in Carmel Valley. She was an artist as well as the author of four published teenage mystery novels.

Survivors include a sister, Patricia King of Carmel; sons, Michael III of Monterey and Steven of Carmel Valley; daughters Ellen Gay Conroy of Ventura and Mary Francis Fawley of Carmel Valley; and five grandchildren.

The family suggested memorial donations to the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula, P.O. Box 223139, Carmel Valley, CA 93922

Margaret Biggerstaff

Margaret Seale Biggerstaff, Carmel, died May 17 at Community Hospital. She was 79.

Mrs. Biggerstaff was born July 24, 1902 in Mobile, Ala. She was a graduate of Ward-Belmont School in Nashville, Tenn., and a concert violinist from the age of 6, performing in the U.S. and in Europe. She gave a concert at Carnegie Hall at age 11. She toured Army hospitals playing for the wounded during World War II.

In 1947 she became director of public relations for Helena Rubinstein in New York City. She headed the New York Botanical Garden fund-raising and public relations, and was ambassador to Paris for that city's 2,000th anniversary. She wrote the song, "Two Thousand Aprils in Paris" in honor of the occasion. She also wrote and coordinated the first color telecast by NBC.

She was appointed assistant director of the Marine laboratory at the University of Miami.

Mrs. Biggerstaff retired in 1970 and moved to Carmel.

Survivors include her daughters, Royal W. Adams of Carmel and Estelle L. Johnston and Marilyn G. Goodspeed, both of Little Silver, N.J.; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggested donations to the Hopkins Marine Laboratories, Pacific Grove.

ALTA VS. BAJA

Alta California was separated from Baja California in March, 1804, and Monterey was named as its capital.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE AT SUNSET CENTER

God's Law and Man's Employment is the subject for Melvin A. Hurwick, visiting Christian Science lecturer, who speaks Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Sunset Center Auditorium, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel.

Mr. Hurwick addresses his remarks to a wide range of human needs and opportunities, pointing out the unlimited relevance of spiritual values to daily conditions. During the course of the lecture, Mr. Hurwick gives examples of people who, in the face of unhappy employment situations, were willing to put aside the notion that they were dependent on mere human actions for their work and accept the jurisdiction of God's law of love and provision.

Mr. Hurwick himself, resigned from a career in business some years ago to devote his full time to the public practice of healing through prayer.

The public is invited to this free lecture. Child care is provided. For further details call 624-3631.

QUOTA CLUBS OF MONTEREY COUNTY
ANNOUNCE AS PART OF BETTER HEARING MONTH

"SHATTER SILENCE WEEK"

MAY 23rd thru MAY 30th

"SHATTER SILENCE"® is Quota's service trademark and it's two basic goals are:

1. To reach out to the hearing & speech impaired
2. To educate the hearing community about the problems & solutions of these handicaps.

Shatter Silence program focuses on vitally important international needs of deaf people and provides opportunities for service and commitment. Anywhere there is a barrier of SILENCE — SHATTER it. Quota, around the world is shattering silence for the deaf because we care and we share.

Thank you for your community support, it has helped us accomplish the following:

Sponsor interpreting of all public service announcements on Channel 46 for the next year.

Purchase electronic equipment for M.O.C. to improve speech of H&S handicapped.

Sponsor countywide art contest for BA month with Mty. County Chapter, Calif. Speech & Hearing Assc.

Purchase video tape for interpreting classes at M.P.C.

Your continued support will help us to expand our present programs to "Shatter Silence"®. For more information or a free copy of our brochure; please write: Quota Foundation, P.O. Box 937, Carmel, California 93921 or call 624-5395.

A PROCLAMATION SHATTER SILENCE WEEK May 23-30, 1982

WHEREAS: The attitudes of society are influenced by limited understanding and limited contact with deaf and otherwise hearing impaired persons,

WHEREAS: Hearing impairment, though not visible, is always a serious communication handicap, and especially when it occurs at a prelingual age,

WHEREAS: These attitudinal and communication circumstances accompanying hearing impairment are barriers to human relationships and full participation in community services and activities shared routinely by society in general,

WHEREAS: Through the efforts of Quota Clubs, these attitudinal and communication barriers are being steadily reduced,

NOW, THEREFORE, WE,

Do hereby proclaim the week of May 23-30, 1982

SHATTER SILENCE WEEK

AND I urge that meaningful observance of this week be made by seeking to learn from hearing impaired persons and those who work with them what services are needed; by educating the public about services presently available to hearing impaired persons; by promoting the accessibility of all community services; and by increasing public awareness about the capabilities and potentials of hearing impaired persons in order that all such persons may enjoy the fruits of full citizenship.

AT AGE 22, PIANIST Diane Hidy is already an experienced performer and winner of numerous competitions. She will be the featured artist at the final concert of the Carmel Music Society 55th Season at 8 p.m. this evening, Thursday, May 27 in Sunset Theater, Carmel.

Carmel Music Society season will climax with a keyboard concert by guest soloist Diane Hidy

The final concert of the Carmel Music Society 55th Season will feature pianist Diane Hidy, winner of the 1981 Fifth Annual Young California Artist Competition, at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 27 in Sunset Theater, Carmel.

The program will include Sonatas, by Domenico Scarlatti; Sonatas, Opus 101 in A Major, by Beethoven; Prelude, Opus 23 No. 4, D Major and Etude, Opus 39 No. 9, D major, by Rachmaninoff; Ballade, Opus 52 in F minor, by Chopin; and Gaspard de la Nuit, 3 poems pour piano d'apres Aloysius Bertrand, by Ravel.

At age 22, Hidy is already an experienced performer and winner of numerous competitions. She made her California orchestral debut in February 1982 performing Beethoven's Third Piano Concerto with the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Gerard Schwarz. Her appearance was a result of winning the 1981 Joanna Hodges International Piano Competition.

Hidy is the recent grand prize winner at the California Young Arts Competition in Carmel. She will be a special guest soloist in the 1982 Carmel Music Society series. She was awarded a full artist recital on the Northwest Young Artist Series in Seattle and is also the winner of the Music Teachers National Association Collegiate Artist Competition for the Southwest Region of the United States.

A native of San Francisco, Hidy began piano studies at age four. She made her orchestral debut at 16 with the Seattle Symphony. She appeared with the Spokane Symphony as winner of the Spokane Young Artist Competition and is the recipient of two Festival Medals of Honor from the Seattle Young Artist Festival.

Other awards received by Hidy include the Berkeley Piano Club Young Artist Award, the Etude Club of Berkeley Young Artist Award and a prize at the San Francisco Chamber Music Society Competition.

Hidy has participated in the prestigious Aspen Music Festival and the Banff School of Fine Arts in Canada. Most recently, she was awarded the David Abell scholarship to attend the International Symposium on Pianism in London.

Currently a scholarship student of John Perry at the University of Southern California, Hidy will complete her bachelor of music degree in piano performance in May. Before coming to Los Angeles, she was a student at the Juilliard School, New York City. Her teachers have included Josef Raieff, Tanya Ury and Michiko Miyamoto.

Tickets are $6, $5, and $4. Advance tickets may be purchased in Carmel at Bartlett Music, Dolores and Fifth; Do Re Mi Music in The Barnyard and in Carmel Plaza. Tickets are also available at the Record Cove, Monterey; Lily Walker Records, Pacific Grove; and at the door one hour before the performance.

For more information, phone 372-1226.

Improvisational group will make Carmel debut in June 2 performance

The first performance of the Monterey Improvisational Theatrical Troupe, an incipient repertory company which performs comedic theatre, will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 2 at Cherry Hall, Guadalupe and Fourth, Carmel.

The troupe grew out of an improvisational acting class taught by Lawrence Reilly in January. Reilly both acts and directs the troupe. In addition to him, troupe members are Andrew Bakun of Carmel, Harriet Brodsky of Pebble Beach, Diana Benson of Pacific Grove and Marjorie Eldridge of Monterey.

Reilly studied improvisation under Evan Nossoff from Synergy Trust and Del Closen, who is regarded as a leading theoretician in improvisational theatre. A resident of Monterey, Reilly directed Uninvited Company and the Raw Ingredients, two improvisational troupes in Sacramento. He taught improvisational comedic acting at the University of California at Davis Experimental College.

The troupe plans to expand into a full performing repertory company.

Improvisational theatre requires a unity of spirit between the cast and the audience. The audience, together with the cast, are the playwrights. Nobody knows what will take place in any given performance and no two are ever alike.

The troupe will perform at 8 p.m. Wednesdays through July 7. Tickets are $3.50.

For reservations, phone 624-7491.

Five art exhibits open this weekend in Carmel.

THE FIRST PERFORMANCE of the Monterey Improvisational Theatrical Troupe will be given at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 2 at Cherry Hall, Guadalupe and Fourth,

'Midsummer' will open series for Children's Experimental Theater

The Children's Experimental Theater Spring Festivals of Plays will begin with the production of A Midsummer Night's Dream at 8:30 p.m. Friday, May 28 in the Indoor Forest Theater, Mountain View and Santa Rita, Carmel. This production will be repeated at 8:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 29-30 and June 4-6.

The festival follows three months of rehearsal for children in grades three through 12. More than 100 students are involved in Children's Experimental Theater, a non-profit organization directed by Marcia Gambrell Hovick.

On Saturdays, May 29 and June 5, the group will perform Stone Soup at 9:30 a.m.; Rumplestiltskin at 10 a.m.; The Three Sillies at 11:30 a.m.; Singapore — 1910 at 1 p.m.; Dancing Princesses at 2:30 p.m.; and A Mid- summer Night's Dream at 4 p.m.

Performances on Sundays, May 30 and June 6 will be Singapore at noon; Stone Soup at 1:30 p.m.; Dancing Princesses at 2:15 p.m.; The Three Sillies at 3:15 p.m.; and Rumplestiltskin at 4 p.m.

There will be matinee performances at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, June 1-3.

The Children's Experimental Theatre offers a focus for the creative energies of children. It is designed to nurture and expand their observation, imagination and communication skills. It was founded by Marcia Hovick in 1960. The traveling troupe performs for children throughout Central California.

Admission is free and the public is invited to this annual "gift to the community." Voluntary donations are welcome. For further information, phone 624-1531.

Poetry, storytelling evenings are planned

The Fourth Annual Festival of Speaking Poets and Storytellers will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 28-29 at Sunset Center, Carmel. Ric Masten of Carmel, Roger Steffens of Los Angeles and Toby Lurie of Milbrae, three poets working in the oral tradition, will be featured performers.

Masten, Steffens and Lurie have each written several volumes of poetry and have performed extensively — though rarely together — throughout the United States. Although their works are extremely diverse, they all share an engaging vitality and humor which relies on the spoken word.

The readings will include Masten's anecdotal meditations on modern life — "Along the San Andreas fault you'd be surprised how many there are secretly hoping," — Steffens's rousing renditions of contemporary poems and tales — "life as a werewolf is never easy. Crucifixes. Silver bullets..." — and Lurie's exuberant sound-color sonatas for two and three voices — "oooooooooooooooooooo pray peeaaccee."

Tickets are $5. A free workshop will be given from 1-3 p.m. Saturday, May 29 in Carpenter Hall, Sunset Center. Participants will be encouraged to share their own poetry and stories.

The festival is sponsored by the City of Carmel in cooperation with Sunflower Ink. For more information, phone 624-3996.

CARMEL POET RIC MASTEN will perform at the Fourth Annual Festival of Speaking Poets and Storytellers at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 28-29 at Sunset Center, Carmel. Poets Roger Steffens and Toby Lurie will also be featured performers.

A different kind of horse show in Valley

Dressage, or the classical art of horsemanship, will be exhibited in all its elegance and symmetry at the eighth annual Dressage Show sponsored by the Carmel Valley Chapter of the California Dressage Society. The event is scheduled Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30 at the Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club. Hours are 8 a.m.-6 p.m. both days. Spectators are welcome; there is no charge.

Literally translated as "to dress a horse," dressage (dress-ahz) is a method of training that has come down through the centuries from the ancient Greeks. Far from an esoteric and useless series of exercises, dressage attempts to train a horse to be relaxed, supple and obedient to his rider's commands. Once thought of as highly specialized and artificial, basic dressage is accepted today as valuable training for polo ponies, hunters, jumpers and pleasure horses.

Higher-level dressage, comparable to that practiced at the famed Spanish Riding School of Vienna, requires a delicate rapport between horse and rider and includes the movements of piaffer, passage, pirouette and flying changes of lead. All levels of dressage, however, are based on the horse's three natural gaits — walk, trot and canter — and the movements he executes while running free.

Show judges are Mary Grace Davidson of Walnut Creek and Lyn Preovolos of Corta Madera.

Luncheon will be available through the mid-day hours at a moderate cost. Coffee, donuts, home-baked goods and soft drinks will be available each morning and throughout the day.

The Trail & Saddle Club grounds are at the end of East Garzas Road in Carmel Valley. From Highway 1 drive approximately 9.5 miles east on Carmel Valley Road. Turn right at Boronda Road (Porter Marquard Realty is on the corner.) Continue across the single-lane bridge to the intersection of Garzas Road. Turn left and continue to the end of the road.

For further information, phone 659-2784, 659-3437 or 659-2617 evenings.

Film review:

Two different views of lesbian love

By LISA JENSEN

Personal Best. With Mariel Hemingway, Patrice Donnelly and Scott Glenn. Written and directed by Robert Towne. A Warner Brothers release. A Woman Like Eve. With Monique van de Ven and Maria Schneider. Written and directed by Nouchka van Brakel. A Regency Film Enterprises release.

Robert Towne's Personal Best sets itself apart from most post-Rocky jock movies, focusing on the daily grind of sports competition rather than stories of the athletes. Towne is transfixed by the hard work, grueling technique and discipline of athletic competition. His camera eye is mesmerized by muscles, sinews and sweat, by rippling young bodies pushing to the physical limit. In its most hypnotic moments, Personal Best is a visual love poem to athletic prowess. The characters, though natural and affecting, ultimately take a back seat to Towne's love affair with sports action.

The storyline follows the career of teenager Chris Cahill (Mariel Hemingway), from her failure to make the U.S. track team as a hurdler in the 1976 Olympic trials to her emergence as a contender in the pentathlon four years later. Early on, Chris meets veteran women's pentathlon champion Tory Skinner (Patricia Donnelly), who becomes her mentor, roommate, best friend and lover.

Tory brings Chris to her own coach (Scott Glenn), a taskmaster who goads and soft-soaps his charges into superior athletes. He agrees to coach Chris only after he spots a champion's "killer instinct" beneath her gawky, tremulous exterior. The trouble comes when the coach decides to groom Chris for Tory's event, the pentathlon, and the two women must cope with professional rivalry in their personal relationship.

Personal Best touches intelligently on many sports-related themes: The winning-is-everything philosophy is examined in the coach, who stops at nothing to give his athletes that crucial "competitive edge," even if it means shattering their principles and personal lives. The coach becomes a convenient target for his athletes' conscientious-stricken angst (earning plenty of hisses from the theater audience). Yet in playing up the character's saviour/devil ambivalence, Towne suggests that the coach is merely a reflection of the athletes' own ambition, without which they'd never survive to win the glory they crave.

Homosexuality in sports is handled with graceful compassion. The love affair between Chris and Tory evolves naturally and credibly with the emphasis less on sex than on their deep, sympathetic companionship. But gay activists looking for positive role models may be disappointed by the glib ending in which Chris "graduates" to a hunky boyfriend with Tory's tacit approval, as if homosexuality were a "phase" like acne that all teenagers go through.

But then, Personal Best doesn't pretend to be about homosexuality. It's about the sporting life, and Towne captures every aspect of his subject with freshness and vigor, from the raunchy locker room jokes to the joints, beers and painkillers that keep the athletes going. Towne's fascination with the body as the finely-tuned tool of the athlete's trade transcends voyeurism and even conventional standards of beauty; lithe runners and fleshy powerful shot-putters are treated with the same rapt admiration.

In contrast the homosexuality theme is miscalculated in A Woman Like Eve, a Dutch film in which a lesbian love affair prompts the heroine's break with her husband and family. While Towne's film weaves its lesbian angle skillfully into the larger story, A Woman Like Eve exploits lesbianism as just one more consciousness-raising cliché.

Poor Monique van de Ven (Cathy Tippel) encounters every cliché in the feminist handbook. Unfulfilled in her housewife role, she visits a lesbian farm commune that looks like a leftover set from Easy Rider. When she returns, she organizes a women's group, frizzes her hair, neglects her loathsomely piggish husband and scandalizes her middle-class mom.

Finally, she "comes out" in an affair with a sullen woman who sings sappy folk songs to rapturous followers (Maria Schneider, almost unrecognizable as Brando's dazzling partner from Last Tango in Paris) and moves into a houseboat on her own (though since she's too busy "being" to get a job, it's not clear how she finances this move). At last, she goes to court in a bitter custody battle for her two children, where she makes an impassioned plea for human rights, regardless of sexual preference.

Nothing in this movie rings true to life, and much of it is downright laughable. The lesbian lovemaking has some erotic heat, but Schneider is so uncharismatic, van de Ven's devotion to her seems misplaced. The film's portrayal of straight women as uniformly treacherous and unenlightened undercuts its stand on tolerance for people of all sexual persuasions.

This humorless, political approach to lesbian love isn't any more enlightening than Personal Best's dismissal of the whole issue in favor of conventional boy-girl romance. All in all, it's not a great week for women in love at the movies.

What's playing at the movies

Bambi: The perennially popular animated creation of the Disney studios. The story of a little fawn and his adventures as he grows into a majestic stag. Rated G. At the Dream Theater.

Charlots of Fire: Oscar winner for the best movie of 1981. A wealthy Jewish boy becomes a star runner and a Scots missionary sprints for the glory of God. The two men, driven in different ways, lead England to gold medals and glory in the 1924 Olympics in Paris. Beautifully blended color photography. Starring Ben Cross, Ian Charleson, and Alice Krige. Rated PG. At the Golden Bough.

Conan The Barbarian: Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in this mythical movie based on pulp magazine tales of the 1930s. Many technical effects throughout the film. Rated R. At the Cinema 70.

Dead Men Don't Wear Plaid: Steve Martin and Carl Reiner at their creative best. One of the funniest movies without a doubt. Spoof of '40s private eye flicks in which Martin roams through adventures that have him talking and scheming with such screen idols as James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart, Veronica Lake and Bette Davis, in film clips from some of their classic movies. Rated G. At the Carmel Village Theatre.

Death Trap: An Edgar Wallace mystery filmed in England in 1960. A girl, played by Barbara Shelly, learns her deceased sister drew some money from the bank before her death, but it seems to have disappeared. Albert Lieven also stars. Rated PG. At the Valley Cinema.

Fighting Back: Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Heavy Metal: Animation and heavy metal rock music are combined with adventure stories about deep space and futuristic New York and beyond. Each story is dominated by the evil Loch-nar, a "glowing green sphere whose power infects all times, all galaxies, all dimensions." Music is by Black Sabbath, Blue Oyster Cult, Cheap Trick, Devo, Journey, Nazareth, Grand Funk Railroad and more. Rated R. At the Dream Theatre.

On Golden Pond: Katharine Hepburn and Henry Fonda, Academy Award winners for Best Actress and Best Actor, offer a story of a couple still passionately in love after 48 years. Jane Fonda plays their daughter. Rated PG. At the Valley Cinema.

Parasite: In 3-D. Rated R. At the State Three Cinema.

Personal Best: Mariel Hemingway and Patrice Donnelly play the roles of women competing for the U.S. Olympic track and field team. Their performances have a deep feeling of honesty. The track and field events are captured with amazing sensuousness. Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Porky's: A ribald comedy of adolescence in the '50's directed by Bob Clark. The title is derived from the name of a notorious redneck dive to which six teenagers are hypnotically drawn in the belief that they can purchase carnal experience on its premises. A youthful comedy which is a showcase for the six talented actors. Rated R. At the State Three Cinemas.

Richard Pryor Live on the Sunset Strip: Pryor is the writer and star of this film, which was shot live at the Hollywood Palladium on two consecutive evenings. With a mixture of wit and warmth, he takes his audience through hilarious accounts of his life, and, finally, "Pryor on fire," a re-telling of what led to the accident which nearly cost him his life. Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Rocky III: Possibly the best of all the Sylvester Stallone Rocky films. At the Hill Theatre.

The Road Warrior: An extraordinary mythological tale, full of exciting action sequences and suspense. Mel Gibson (the dark-haired soldier of "Gallipoli") stars as an invincible hero of a barren and lawless wasteland. Rated R. At the Regency.

Rocky Horror Picture Show: A movie about two teenagers and a transvestite from another planet. Fri. and Sat. midnight show. At the Dream Theatre.

The Sword And The Sorcerer: A fantasy adventure of the Dark Ages about a mysterious hero fighting against a medieval sorcerer and an evil king. Lots of battle scenes, dungeons, dragons, wizards and witches, damsels and desire and a warrior caught between. Starring Lee Horsely, Kathleen Beller. Rated R. At the Dream Theatre.

Victor Victoria: Held over. Romantic comedy set in the 1930's Paris. Julie Andrews stars as a down-on-her-luck singer and James Garner as a tough Chicago nightclub owner, with Robert Preston, Lesley Ann Warren and Alex Karras. Rated PG. At the Dream Theatre.

Visiting Hours: A thriller with Lee Grant and William Shatner. Rated R. At the State Three Cinema.

Wrong Is Right: Sean Connery stars in this dark comedy set in the near future, revealing the foolishness behind the ins and outs of world political manipulations. Rated R. At the Center Cinemas.

Backgammon

Keep up the pressure

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You, White, roll 5-4 in the diagrammed position. How do you play it?

It would be very foolish to bring one or both men out of Black's home board. You plan to hold his 5-point for quite a while unless you roll a big doublet and can move both men safely.

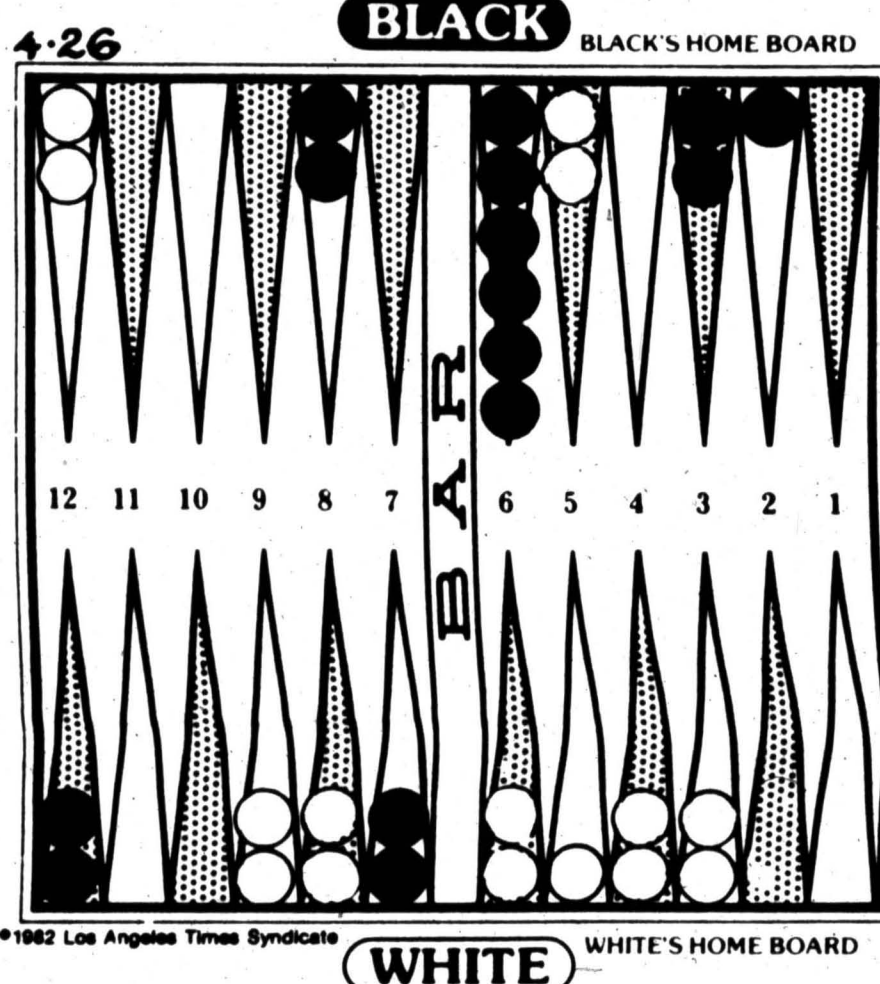

You are tempted to bring both men down from your midpoint, resting them safely on your 8-point and 9-point. One trouble with abandoning your midpoint so early is that you thus relax the pressure on the two men on Black's midpoint. If he has to bring one of those men into his home board, you will have to roll a total of eight on your dice (6 chances out of 36); but if you stay on your midpoint and he leaves a blot on his own midpoint, you can hit him with any one (11 chances out of 36).

Another trouble with leaving your midpoint is that Black can take both men from your bar point with 6-3, 6-4, 6-5, 5-4, 5-3 or 4-3, and you can hit him only with a long shot. But if you stay on your midpoint and Black leaves a blot in your outer board, you have a much better chance to hit him.

Take both men in from your 9-point and preserve your best chances for a shot if Black has to leave a blot.

Would you like to have Alfred Sheinwold teach you how to play backgammon? A 12-lesson booklet will be on the way to you when you send $1 plus a stamped, self-addressed, No. 10 envelope to Backgammon, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1000, Los Angeles, Calif. 90053.

Banjo player Peter Meuse will present a concert at 8 p.m. this evening, Thursday, May 27 at Cherry Hall, Guadalupe and Fourth, Carmel. The performance will include bluegrass, folk, calypso and gypsy music and will feature John Batiste on bass and gypsy dancers, Joyce and Marie.

Meuse has performed in Los Angeles and Central California. He wrote Ballad of the Medfly with Kurt Phillips in 1981 and has recorded his music.

From May 1979 to June 1980 Meuse toured Canada performing in Paper Wheat, a historical comedy of the prairie wheat farmers in Saskatchewan. The play was performed in major Canadian cities and was chosen one of the top 1979 Canadian plays. Meuse starred as mime, actor and singer and played guitar and banjo with national fiddle champion, Bill Prokopchuck.

Admission to the concert is $5. For reservations, phone 624-7491.

IN HARMONY ...

That's what riding is all about ... a calm, confident rider on a relaxed, responsive horse.

WE'RE DIFFERENT ...

The goal of the Rancho Laureles Riding Program is to teach riders to attain this special feeling.

We tailor our riding lessons to the individual. Beginners gain confidence and control; advanced riders improve their form.

We don't believe in over-mounting timid riders by putting them on more horse than they can comfortably manage, or insisting that riders jump before they're ready.

We stress the basics of correct horsemanship to teach how to ride effectively, and we make learning to ride a rewarding, enjoyable experience.

WHO CAN LEARN?

Anyone! One of the wonderful things about riding is you're never too old to learn. Horses are not just for teenage girls. They're for everyone! If learning to ride has been a dream of yours, we can make it a reality!

EXPENSIVE?

Riding lessons actually cost less than tennis, golf or skiing lessons. And you don't need any special equipment to get started. We supply horses and tack. (We're told that our school horses are a delight to ride and the best anywhere. That's an important asset in any riding program.)

BOARDING, TOO

Rancho Laureles continues to offer the finest boarding and riding facilities, including deluxe box stalls, paddocks and pasturage, plus safe sand arenas and direct access to 2,500 acres of glorious trails in Garland Ranch Regional Park.

Group or private riding lessons by appointment

To discuss your particular horse-care needs, phone Rancho Laureles Equestrian Center, "the home of happy horses."

Carmel Youth Baseball

By WENDY BANKS

THERE WERE fewer games this past week due to Carmel fifth graders going to the Santa Cruz Mountains for science camp, but now they know the difference between a banana slug and a hit and run slugger.

Only two games were scheduled on the Bronco field on Saturday. In the first game La Playa topped Derek Rayne 19-11. Mike Little, the first batter of the game, parked it to give him a home run. Mike also hit a double along with teammates Rein Wildschut and Eric Cederstrom of LP. On the DR side Craig Cox had an amazing four for four while collecting a double. Shawn Edwards doubled and went two for four; Cory Keith was two for three. Eric Sincoff caught a long fly deep in center which was hit by Eric Mahlum; Paul Wagstaff pitched the win.

Brandon Kirsch made a shoestring catch on a line drive hit by Adam Green to assist John Roscelli 13 over Pine Inn 9. Doubles were collected by Adam Green, Darren Dickerhoof, and two from Darren Read, all for Pine Inn. JR doubles included: Jeff Roberts and Gerson Perry. Also hitting well were David Faber four for five Darren Reed, an outstanding five for five. Beau Brushert was the pitcher of record.

Carmel Insurance, with Braulio DeAnda pitching, took a 9-1 game from MotorSports. Matt Little had two doubles while going three for four and adding a little extra insurance were Jason Vogelpohl, three for four and Hans Hess, two for four. For MotorSports Carlos Moore made a fly ball catch while diving through the air in the fifth inning. Dick Bruhn maintained an early lead and came out ahead of Rudy-Harris 9-3.

Scott Smith tripled and pitched while helped out by DB's Jeremy Anzalone and Aaron Bliesner, both of whom doubled.

Christopher Karachale and Daniel Kleinhardt added some extra hitting power to the Bruhn line up. For RH Will Griffith, Bryan Langley (up from a sick bed) both doubled while Daniel Luster picked up two.

Major league girls softball continues to give thrills and surprises as is evident in the game between Monterey Peninsula Dental Group and Fort Ord. On the scoreboard it looked like Fort Ord had won by the 10 run rule after five innings, 18-4. However, since they didn't comply with the rules of playing all players, MPDG got credit for the win.

Julie Ege hit well for MPDG and Christine Reding pitched. A closer game saw MPDG lose 17-19 to Palazzolas of Monterey. Tiffany Powers and Dawn Rea both were three for three; Janice Aldrich pitched.

Village Inn played two games under the lights at Jacks Park facing Anderson's Electric and Post 41. Brandi Faia and Stacey White took over the pitching position, but couldn't quite handle the Monterey teams. Hitting well for Carmel were Tami Fuller and Karla Palumbo who both collected triples. Karla also got a double and Brandi got two. Elvina Scott had a good game out in the field while Tami (earache and all) picked off the runner at second with an on-target throw from the plate.

Stacey White figured into a double play when she caught a line drive and threw to second to get the runner. Brandi Faia chased after a fly ball which went foul after hitting her; she then proceeded to catch the next fly from the same batter. After being tied with Palazzolas in the last inning, VI lost by one run despite some good fielding and hitting.

In minor league girls softball, Carmel Plaza took a very close game from Straw Hat 2-1. This unusual low score says a lot for the pitching of Monica Reardon and Megan Hansen. Excellent fielding was seen by both teams and the only extra base hit was collected by Kim Gisse, CP.

Herma Smith Curtis lost a close game to Joe Tate which had to go an extra inning; final score 5-6. Suzanne Suwada pitched, doubled, and hit well. Gine Palumbo had some nice hits. Double plays were numerous: Nancy Penn, Lisa Miller, and Valerie Wester. Jamie Parrish tagged a runner between bases and Sandra Harris snagged a fly ball at second.

Straw Hat posted a 16-4 victory over Intersport with a big 12-run third inning. Megan Hanson was pitching and also hit a triple. Tyana Saxby added another home run and Jennifer Loomis was another leading hitter. Adding another victory Straw Hat defeated Kiwanis 12-2. Again Megan Hanson pitched the win and was hitting well. Jennifer Loomis collected several hits, one of which was a double. Tyana had an outstanding day in the field.

Richelle Rudinski's home run in the first inning with two runners on base got Carmel Plaza off to a great start; the final score was CP 20, Fort Ord 2. Janine Pullen pitched the win and was hitting well along with teammates Sandy Morris, Claire Troian, Monica Reardon, Lisa Serrano, and Richelle Rudinski. Playing at third base Becky Eskin made a nice catch as did Janine on the mound. Lisa Serrano had a nicely placed bunt in the fifth inning and a double in the fourth.

The Pinto team of the week is Straw Hat, coached by Linda and Keith Comire. Team members are: Jason Comire, Alex Premier, Brian Kingsley, Nathaniel Montgomery-Downes, Brian Odello, David Palshaw, Bryan Pearson, Wendy Perkins, Michael Schemmel, Gera Serrano, Bryan Telford, Jeremy Whitaker, Bain Smith, and Ceete Brewster-Cusimano.

PACIFIC GROVE photographer Jerry Takigawa will be one of 62 artists represented in the Members Exhibition at The Friends of Photography Gallery May 28 through July 4. Approximately 400 photographers submitted works for consideration by The Friends' curatorial staff. This photograph by Takigawa is untitled. The gallery is located at Sunset Center, Carmel.

Friends of Photography mounts Members Exhibit

The Friends of Photography will present the 1982 Members Exhibition from May 28 through July 4 in the gallery, Sunset Center, Carmel. The public is invited to a reception and opening preview from 8-10 p.m. Friday, May 28.

The Members Exhibition is an annual presentation of work by members of The Friends. The exhibit includes color and black-and-white photographs as well as prints made with a variety of alternative photographic processes. The 1982 exhibition includes 62 photographs selected by a jury from more than 12,000 prints submitted by members throughout the country. Prints by a number of younger artists whose work has not been widely exhibited will be included.

Monterey Bay area photographers whose works will be displayed are Claudette Dibert and Jeffrey Helwig of Carmel, Martha Pearson and Huntington Witherill of Monterey, and Jerry Takigawa of Pacific Grove.

Established in 1967, The Friends of Photography is a non-profit organization with headquarters in Carmel. It is dedicated to the support and encouragement of creative photography. Presently, its membership of more than 12,000 makes it the largest organization of its kind in the world.

In addition to monthly exhibitions in the Sunset Center gallery, the activities of The Friends include traveling exhibitions, publications, workshops, lectures, grants and awards to photographers and critical inquiry. Membership to The Friends is open to everyone.

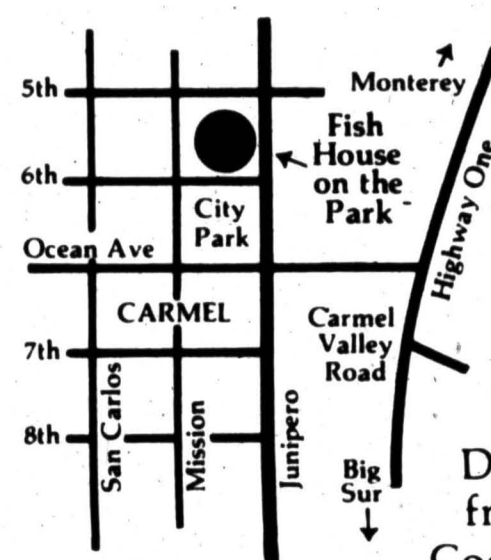

Regular gallery hours are 1-5 p.m. daily. Admission is free. For more information, phone 624-6330.

Two works by Dodge to premiere May 29

The first West Coast showing of two major New York City primitive paintings created by nationally known naive artist Bill W. Dodge will open Saturday, May 29. A Welcome Home celebration for Dodge, who has been researching new paintings in New England, is planned from 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 29-30 and from 1-4 p.m. Monday, May 31 at the Bill W. Dodge Gallery, Court of the Fountains, Mission and Seventh, Carmel.

Both colorful works, Identified Flying Objects Over Broadway, and Ruth Warrick Goes to Work, were commissioned for reproduction rights by Dodge's publisher, NAIF International of Los Angeles. Dodge spent the past three months in Manhattan painting them for premiere exhibition at Art Expo: New York in New York April 22-26. He has recently returned to Carmel after a trip through New England where he researched new paintings for the Libby, McNeill & Libby Americana collection. He paints for the collection on a regular basis for the international food company.

Dodge will be present to discuss the new paintings and sign collector posters of Circus City, his San Francisco painting, during the three-day event.

In addition to Dodge's original and limited-edition prints, the gallery specializes in other leading American and European primitive and naive artists.

For more information, phone 625-5636.

Wayne lithographs to be exhibited at Sunset Center

The Dorothy Series, an exhibition of 20 lithographs by June Wayne, will open on Wednesday, June 2 at the Marjorie Evans Gallery in Sunset Center, Carmel. The exhibition will continue through June 29.

Circulated nationally by the Art Museum Association, The Dorothy Series is a visual biography of Dorothy Kline, the artist's mother. Collaged from letters, public documents, old photographs and drawn recollections, the images trace Dorothy's life from her childhood emigration from Russia to the United States in 1907, through her career as a traveling saleslady in the corset business, to her death in 1960.

Wayne attempted to remain objective in this presentation of her mother's life story to suggest it was being told from Dorothy's point of view.

Wayne says of the series, "I'm putting my talent at her (Dorothy's) disposal and using as much objective material as possible — her words, her documents, her pictures. The Dorothy Series is what I think she thought. If I were telling the story from my point of view, it would look different."

As a result of her detachment, Wayne has created a powerful visual statement about being a working woman in the U.S. during the first half of the 20th century. This aspect of the series provides an important insight into the artist's life. Wayne, best known as founder of the Tamarind Lithography Workshop, has made a remarkable contribution to her field as a printmaker, writer, filmmaker, educator and activist for the rights of women artists.

The exhibition is made available by Wayne and is on a two year tour of museums throughout the U.S. under the auspices of the Art Museum Association, San Francisco.

The Marjorie Evans Gallery is open from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays and one hour before most theater performances.

For further information, phone 624-3996.

THE FIRST West Coast exhibition of Identified Flying Objects Over Broadway, a colorful primitive scene of New York City by noted Carmel artist Bill W. Dodge, will open Saturday, May 29 at the Bill W. Dodge Gallery, Court of the Fountains, Mission and Seventh, Carmel. The painting is one of two New York scenes created by Dodge for NAIF International and displayed at Art Expo: New York April 22-26.

Images by 15 photographers are now on exhibit at Carmel Photoart Gallery, Dolores and Ocean, Carmel. The exhibit includes work in color and black and white. A reception for the photographers is planned from 7-9 p.m. Saturday, May 29; the public is welcome.

The exhibition also includes the work of four student photographers. While the emphasis of the show is on color, the traditional silver print will also be featured.

The group show, which will continue through July 9, will include the works of Pirkle Jones, Eileen Dufur, Mark Citret, Laurie Brown, Jack Fulton, Claudette Dibert, Ken Botto, Howard Rosenfeld, Marianne Van Valkenburg, Ken Ruth, Rudy Legname, Frans Lanting, John Pearson, John Gamble, Ernest Braun and four local student photographers, Gretchen Ebbeson, Jeff Helwig, Eric Pinchin and Heide McGur-in.

Born in 1914, Jones leads the roster of photographers presenting silver prints. Listed in Who's Who in the World in 1981, Jones is known for Death of a Valley (Berryessa Valley, 1960), documentary photographs produced with Dorothea Lange; and The Story of a Winery produced with Ansel Adams in 1963 and exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution prior to a nationwide tour.

Jones' photographic essays with Ruth-Marion Baruch, Walnut Grove: Portrait of a Town, 1964 and The Vanguard, A Photographic Essay on the Black Panthers, 1968 received great acclaim.

Jones' work is currently represented in many museums throughout America including the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art in New York; Amon Carter Museum of Modern Art, Texas; Chicago Art Institute; San Francisco Museum of Modern Art; and Library of Congress.

Silver prints by Eileen Dufur, Mark Citret and Ken Ruth will also be exhibited.

Dufur's works were recently featured in a local magazine. In 1981 Citret's work was displayed in a group show, The New Landscapes, an invitational exhibit presented at The Friends of Photography.

Ruth, founder of the photography department at UC, Santa Cruz, will be represented by two images recently purchased by the Victoria and Albert Museum in London. A third silver print of Ruth's was purchased by the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris.

In the color section, Laurie Brown's concern is "not what a photograph should be but what it can be." Traditional photo boundaries are violated and the photo border is transversed by thread. Awarded a National Endowment for the Arts grant in 1978, Brown has exhibited internationally and is represented in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art.

In 1979 Jack Fulton was awarded a one-man show at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art. Museum curator Van Deren Coke described him as "a cowboy without a horse, an artist with an ingratiating sense of humor and a punster who mistreats words in the most delightful fashion imaginable to create visual riddle... Jack's love of color and use of colored pigment to create textures on his photographs gives his work an ad hoc feeling that is distinctive and links his images to folk art."

Claudette B. Dibert will present Cibachrome color prints. The inherent glass-like surface quality of this process is ideally suited for her mysterious, vibrant scenes.

Ken Botto's nostalgic color prints present captivating scenes of antique toys and imaginative backdrops. Past Joys, published by Chronicle Books, showcased his artistic talent. His photographs were first displayed at the San Francisco International Airport in 1981 and will soon be shown at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art.

Nature studies of Point Lobos are displayed by Howard Rosenfeld and John Gamble, who has been actively engaged in photography for over 35 years. Gamble is currently director of exhibits for the New Pictorialist Society.

The works of Marianne Van Valkenburg feature a nature theme. Her prints of flower abstractions appear in Camera Portfolio magazine.

Rudy Legname, past president of the American Society for Magazine Photographers, will present Bodyscape, one of six nude abstractions recently exhibited at the Locus Gallery commercial photographer invitational show in San Francisco.

Frans Lanting, photographer for Geo, will show photographs from his birds in flight series previously exhibited at the California Academy of Science Museum, San Francisco. John Pearson will also show studies in motion. His photographs of horses from The Sun's Birthday and Begin Sweet World have a dreamlike quality.

Earnest Baurn received the Life Magazine award for best environmental pictures in 1971 for the photographs to be displayed at the gallery.

The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Zantman Art Galleries will present Speck exhibit

ON A WORKING RANCH is one of the paintings by Gene Speck to be shown in the first solo exhibit of his work. The exhibition will open with a reception from 5-8 p.m.

Saturday, May 29 at the Zantman Art Galleries, Sixth and Mission, Carmel. The public is welcome.

The first solo show of paintings by Gene Speck will open Saturday, May 29 at the Zantman Art Galleries, Sixth and Mission, Carmel. The artist will be present for a reception from 5-8 p.m. Saturday. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will be served.

The first group of nine paintings by Speck was presented at Zantman Galleries seven years ago. They were all sold the first day. This immediately demonstrated his popular appeal which has grown steadily.

The first Speck paintings were unquestionably excellent, but there has been a gradual refinement in style and technique. His selection of subject matter has expanded dramatically.

The collection currently exhibited constitutes his sixth show in the Zantman Art Galleries. For the past five years, Speck has participated in two-man shows with his young brother, Loran, a still-life painter.

Speck, 46, lives in Nevada where he owns and operates a small ranch. He started painting only a decade ago and his career is already successful by both critical and popular standards.

The gallery is open from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; and from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday.

Tucson man is awarded prestigious $2,000

Ferguson Grant from Friends of Photography

The Friends of Photography has announced that Lawrence McFarland of Tucson, Az. has been awarded the 1982 Ferguson Grant. The grant is a $2,000 cash award presented annually to a photographer who has demonstrated excellence in and commitment to the field of creative photography.

McFarland received a BFA degree from the Kansas City Art Institute and his MFA from the University of Nebraska. He taught photography in Colorado and New York and received a National Endowment for the Arts Photographer's Fellowship in 1978. His photographs are in several public collections.

Juror for the 1982 Ferguson Grant was Anita Ventura Mozley, curator of photography at the Stanford University Museum of Art since 1971.

The award to McFarland marks the 11th year that the grant has been presented. McFarland was selected from among 175 applicants from throughout the country.

McFarland received the award for a portfolio of black and white landscape photographs taken in Arizona and California.

An exhibit of philosophical photos by Bullock opens

An exhibition of photographs by Wynn Bullock will open with a reception from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, May 28 at the Photography West Gallery, Dolores and Ocean, Carmel. The exhibition will continue through July 8.

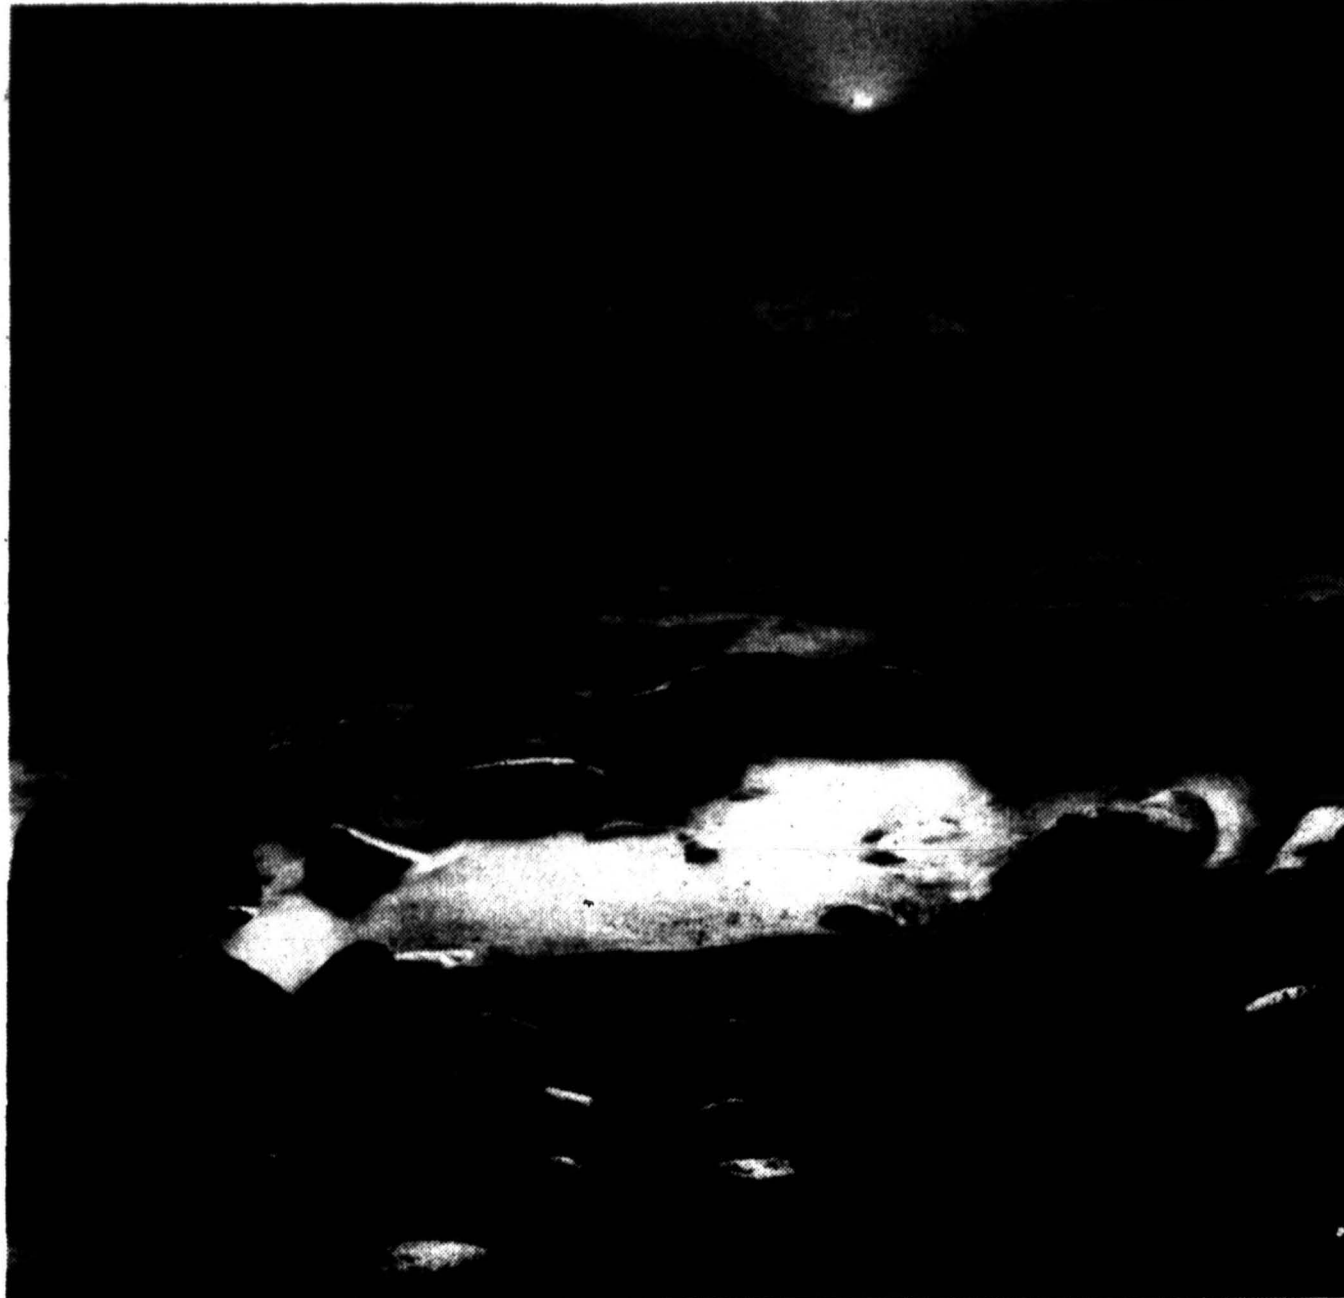

Bullock, world renowned for his extraordinary prints, moved to the Peninsula area in the 1940s to pursue his photographic life. He brought a unique spiritual and philosophical quality to his photographs of nature and abstraction.

Bullock's photography stands alongside the work of Edward and Brett Weston and Ansel Adams in making the Monterey-Carmel area important to lovers of photographic art. A sensitive and serious philosopher, he had a genuine feeling for the visual subtleties of the photographic print, and his finest images embody a sense of the mystery of being, shared by people and the world of nature, both participating in existence and time.

Simple philosophical terms accrued meaning and overtones for Bullock, and as his thinking developed, his photographs reflected this depth. A master printer, he related light as a unifying force to the silver tonalities in the print. His images of nature and figures in nature are infused with a sense of wonder, and his abstractions often have a haunting animation.

Experimental techniques extended the range of Bullock's work. He worked with colored light abstractions, photograms, and negative or physically reversed prints as well as the classical contact print from 8x10 negatives associated with the West Coast school of photography. He had a firm faith that the quality of life had to do with an awareness of dimensions of reality that transcended human limits.

Bullock began his artistic career as a successful concert tenor in Paris. He was aware of Impressionist and Post-Impressionist painting, and it was originally the work of Man Ray and Moholy-Nagy that turned his interest to photography as a contemporary visual medium of expression.

THE PHOTOGRAPHY OF Wynn Bullock stands with the works of Ansel Adams, Edward and Brett Weston in making the Monterey-Carmel area important to lovers of photographic art. Shore, 1966 is one of the late photographer's prints to be exhibited from May 28 through July 8 at Photography West, Dolores and Ocean, Carmel.

During the Depression, Bullock returned to the United States to aid a family business in real estate. He began to pursue his interest in photography as a hobby.

At 36, he became more serious and enrolled at the Los Angeles Art Center in 1938. His pursuit of philosophy as well as visual expression developed at this time.

Bullock was involved with unconventional uses of standard photographic procedures to achieve imaginative effects and to express a visionary rather than realistic view. He worked with solarization, line reproduction and reticulation.

Later, a change came to his photography by way of the work of Edward Weston. Weston's subtle and beautiful print quality, his use of nature as subject matter and his ability to convey mystical and emotional content through straight "realistic" technique, opened new possibilities for Bullock.

He moved to the Monterey area in the 40s and made a living in commercial photography. Bullock's thoughts had also progressed. He began to see his natural subject matter as "dynamic events in space/time." In his images, a complex of forces seem to surface among facts and appearances. The incorporation of time through multiple or extremely long exposures is uniquely Bullock's.

Under the influence of his own thinking, the natural environment of the Carmel and Big Sur areas, and the photography syntax of Edward Weston, Bullock made perhaps the greatest of his photographs during the 1950s.

In the 1960s Bullock, restless and eager to experiment with a different direction, experimented with color slide material, photographing refracted, reflected and transmitted light through transparent color materials. Less commonly seen, these photographs are beautiful and open to many formal interpretations.

Bullock returned to black and white printing in the 1970s but with a new point of view. Moving in on details and abstracted forms, he disjointed normal perceptions through negative printing or image reversal. He seemed to be attempting to deal directly with light, darkness and energy. The prints from this period are often reminiscent of the calligraphic private world of Paul Klee. This work, maybe less finished and realized than his classic photographs of the earlier period, has been perhaps the most influential for later photographers who sensed a new direction for growth.

The gallery is open from 11 a.m.- 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. For further information, phone 625-1587.

Escrow

A service of the Carmel Board of Realtors
Consumer Protection Committee

A young New York couple recently came to the escrow holder's office to sign documents to buy the house they had chosen. The husband looked at the escrow officer, and the other empty chairs, then blurted: "Where is everybody?"

If you are coming from an area that requires all parties to an escrow to be present to sign documents, it can be unsettling to not have lawyers for buyer and seller, the lawyer handling the escrow, and the title insurer present. It is much more streamlined in California.

On the Monterey Peninsula, the escrow holder will generally also be the title insurer. In Southern California, independent escrow companies do the escrow procedures with a title company doing the necessary title work pursuant to the escrow company's instructions.

Escrow is a service which provides the public with protection in the holding of funds and/or documents. The service minimizes risk to both buyer and seller by providing a legally neutral intermediary. Escrow's function is to assure that no funds or property change hands until all instructions have been completed.

Payment for the service varies by custom; on the Monterey Peninsula custom dictates that the seller pays the fee, based on the sales price of the home. In Salinas the fee is customarily split evenly between buyer and seller, while in San Francisco the charge is paid by the buyer. At all locations, payment of the escrow fee is negotiable between both buyer and seller as part of the purchase contract.

Signing of documents also varies between Northern and Southern California. Here in the north, escrow instructions are usually signed towards the end of the escrow period after all contingencies have been satisfied. In the south, general instructions are drawn at the opening of an escrow with provisions to provide amendments as contingencies are satisfied.

The custom is only that, not a rule, and instructions can be issued at any time during the escrow period. Without instructions to the contrary, the escrow officer will conform to area custom.

Escrow begins here when the buyer and seller sign a real estate contract prepared by their realtor. The realtor then advised the title company that will act as the escrow holder of the terms and conditions of the sale and provides the escrow holder with a copy of the contract. At that time, escrow is open.

The officer orders a search of the title of the property to determine whether the seller owns it, how he or she holds title, whether there are items which burden the property. On completion of the search, a preliminary title report is given to both buyer and seller showing the status of the property.

The Realtor works closely with the escrow officer, keeping the officer informed as to the time to order loan statements from lenders, either a "demand" if the loan is going to be paid off, or a "statement of condition" if the loan is to be assumed. The escrow holder is not allowed by law to order anything that would incur costs for the principals unless the holder is so instructed.

If a termite company is involved, an inspection report and any other reports or data will be sent to escrow then, toward the end of the term, the holder issues documents and instructions incorporating all information deposited to escrow. The documents, to be signed by buyer and seller, are letters to escrow stating expectations as to handling of funds and documents.

Escrow closes when all documents prepared are recorded at the office of the county recorder in the county where the property is located, transferring title as instructed. Upon title transfer by recording, money is disbursed by the escrow officer again by instruction. When title transfers and the money is disbursed, the function of the escrow holder ends.

While the escrow holder cannot give legal advice or negotiate the transaction, it can be relied upon, at all times, to remain a neutral third party and to process the transaction according to the buyer's and seller's written instructions.

PEACE AND PRIVACY

Sum up this one-of-a-kind home located in Carmel Meadows just minutes from shopping and downtown Carmel. A private outdoor lifestyle can be enjoyed from either the completely walled courtyard with its Southern exposure, or one of the upper or lower decks which run the width of the home. Sliding glass doors lead to the deck and patio. The house encompasses a total of 3 large bedrooms and two baths, all with views, as well as a den and study. Closets and storage areas are abundant in the spacious structure of 2700 square feet. The condition of this home is outstanding, reflecting the care of devoted owners. $315,000 with owner financing available. C158TM1.

DISTINCTION AND CHARM

One of the most prestigious 1 acre estates in Pebble Beach in close proximity to 4 of the world famous golf courses. Carefully designed to reflect a European atmosphere. Prominent are the imposing pillars throughout the home which are enhanced by eight foot solid oak doors done in a French Provincial style. The main floor consists of a beautiful living room with fireplace, a formal dining room, a master bedroom with stairway to the den/library with fireplace, offering a glimpse of sky and sea. The family room with massive fireplace adjoins the gourmet kitchen and breakfast area. From the spacious foyer a handsome staircase leads to 3-guest bedrooms each with their own private balcony. The home has a security system, safety locks, antique gold finished hardware and radiant heat throughout. There are approximately 5,000 sq. ft. of living area in this idyllic setting. $1,500,000. C160CP4.

CORRAL DE TIERRA

Just completed by master craftsman for himself, this 5300 sq. ft. home is in a fashionable and sunny area between Salinas and Monterey. The owner insisted on top quality throughout, the gourmet kitchen, sauna and hot tub, 4 fireplaces and stained glass windows. There are 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, and every amenity you could ask for. Up to 3 horses are allowed in the corral and there is ample room for a pool and tennis court on the 3.84 acres. Priced below replacement cost at $695,000. M554AJ10.

CARMEL QUAIN

This typically Carmel cottage is surrounded by a colorful country garden. Interior space is open and sun-drenched — cathedral ceilings, a hideaway loft, and an updated kitchen with garden window. There are two bedrooms and two baths, and the master suite features sliding glass doors opening onto an inviting, walled patio. Home is insulated and situated on an extra large lot, with two diminutive structures in the back yard, used now as guest sleeping area and workshop; a property well-cared-for and immaculate inside and out. Reduced to $229,500.

VIEW CONTEMPORARY

The views are spectacular from this 4 bedroom, 3½ bath family home. The master suite is spacious and private. A sunny deck on the same level is very secluded with hot tub. The lower level has its own family room and opens up to a large level play area for children. $389,000 with attractive assumable financing.

OCEAN VIEW VILLA

For those who demand only the best in quality and taste, we proudly offer this architect-designed contemporary villa overlooking ocean and golf course in an excellent Pebble Beach location. Superb use of wood and tile, custom curved stairway, with views of the Pacific nicely framed from every room. Master suite with his and her baths, fireplace, two additional bedrooms with well-appointed dressing rooms. Three fireplaces, four baths, a spacious game room, and a kitchen to delight the most accomplished chef. Well-worth $790,000.

PEBBLE BEACH GEM

Spanish contemporary in design, this newer Pebble Beach residence features 1920 square feet of living space at a low, low price. Three bedrooms, two baths, a corner fireplace, extensive decking and patio, tile roof, Kitchenaid and Jenn-Air appliances. Secluded, yet convenient location. $249,500, with large assumable first loan, plus owner may assist.

Unexpected Elegance

You could drive past this home on Ocean Avenue a dozen times without seeing it. It's just a couple of blocks above Junipero, but so neatly nestled among its trees that it's part of the landscape.

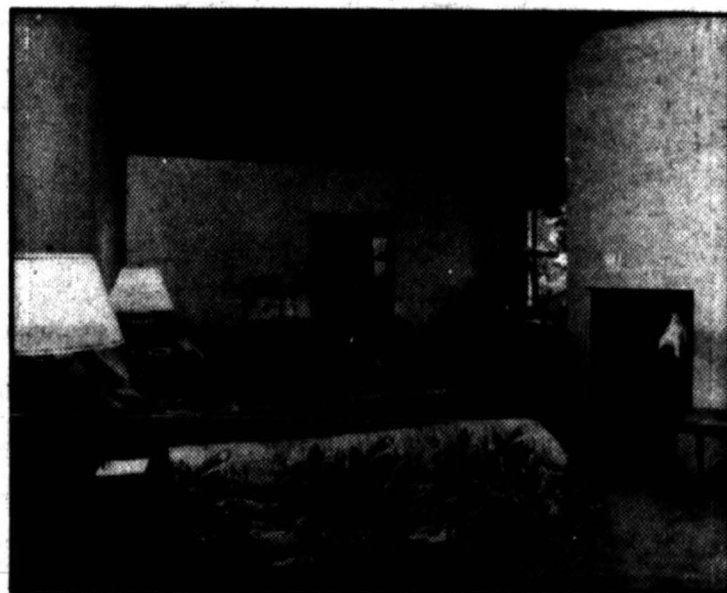

From the driveway and garage the house rises 3 floors, presenting windowed gables to the west and a second level entrance up a sturdy flight of steps. The entry hall is paved in vinyl bricks, and the 21 x 17 living room is just to the right and up two steps.

Two massive beams support its planked ceiling. The gable end is all glass, leading to a comfortable deck. The fireplace is topped by a high black hood and the slate hearth is raised. A marvelous skylight in one corner lights the entire room.

On the other side of the entrance, a corridor leads back past the formal dining room to the kitchen, a charming bedroom and the lower bath. The kitchen is skillfully organized: many light-colored wood cabinets, grey tiled counters, Jenn-air range on the west, double sink on the south, double oven and refrigerator on the north. And around the corner to the east, a compact laundry area.

The stair at the end of the hall leads up to the remarkable 3rd floor and down to the double garage and large storage area. The upper floor includes a long, closet-lined hallway, handsome den with its own private deck, glamorous master bedroom with fireplace, and a spectacular skylighted master bath.

The bedroom here is 19 x 14 with natural beamed ceiling and two great windows that afford views of Carmel Bay and a glimpse of Pt. Lobos. The den is also beamed, and its deck looks across the town to the sea. The bath is wondrously light: 2 sinks, a mirrored wall, separate toilet, large shower with a bench, and a giant walk-in tub.

Binding all these conveniences together is an elevator which starts at the garage level, rises to the main hall, and stops at the den. Altogether this is 2300 sq. ft. of very comfortable living, convenient to town, totally private and completely convenient. Just one year old. $395,000.

NESTLED UNDER THE TREES

IN CARMEL ... and south of Ocean Avenue ... a home of much, much charm, surrounded by lovely gardens and flooded with sun, on THREE lots, close to beach and village. Behind a low stone wall is the garden with its gnarled oaks and begonias, setting off the four-bedroom redwood home like a jewel. It's a house you'll want to make into your home at once! Remodeled kitchen, modern baths. $600,000.

A HOME FOR ALL SEASONS

ON A CORNER DOUBLE lot south of Carmel's Ocean Avenue, only three blocks from the beach and within an easy walk of the village, a superbly maintained home with three bedrooms, three baths, spacious living room, dining room overlooking sunny garden, and commodious master bedroom. Lovely gardens surround the house. Quality and location make this a fine buy at $475,000.

A VILLA NEAR THE OCEAN

A ROMANTIC, Spanish-style villa within sight and sound of the ocean, located on Spindrift Road, just a few minutes south of Carmel. This attractive home has been tastefully remodeled and updated, but with all or its original charm enhanced. Good-sized living and dining room, colorful kitchen, breakfast room, master bedroom with its own fireplace, and three (or four) additional bedrooms. $395,000. There's a first of $200,000, and the owner will consider a $200,000 second.

SUNSHINE, PRIVACY AND COMFORT

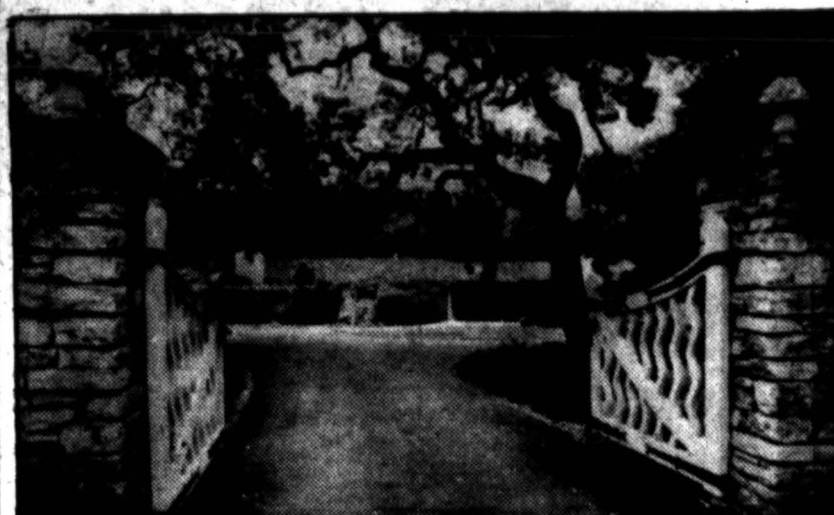

IN CARMEL VALLEY ... a handsome, indeed luxurious home with four bedrooms, two and one-half baths, den, plus fine valley views and an extra building site for a guest house. The huge deck is ideal for lazing in the sun, or for entertaining. The kitchen is a dream, and there's also a laundry room, wine cellar, pantry, security system, dual water heaters, and air conditioning. Quality construction shows in soundproofing and insulation. A fine, well-built house in a marvelous setting! $479,000.

Serene In The Sun

Serene within fences secluding its four-acre site featuring graceful oaks, fragrant pines, cypresses and flower-bordered lawns, this shake-roofed, adobe and redwood, recently renovated and rambling California ranch style home is located in the prestigious Los Ranchitos estates area of Carmel Valley.

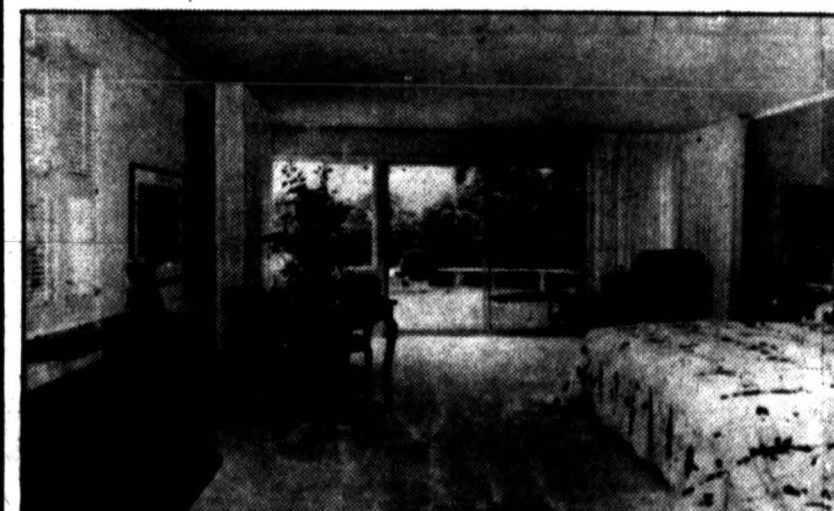

On the south-facing side of the house with view of the Santa Lucia Mountains, window walls provide access not only to the patio with a swimming pool but also to a nearby deck with a tiled spa as well as to the charming, two-room guest house.

The living room with beamed wood ceiling, random plank hardwood floor and adobe fireplace flanked by bookcases is off a dramatic entry traversing the width of the house to a picture window framing patio and pool. Off the entry, too, are a dining room with a fireplace and a butler's pantry with bar, both correlated with a custom kitchen featuring every cooking convenience, fold-out pantry, tile-topped cabinets and a big, butcher block, center island embracing a breakfast bar.

Spot lighting, a beamed ceiling and a brick fireplace are in the carpeted library beyond which are both the similar study and the spacious, skylighted, flexible-use studio/workroom.

This wallpapered, carpeted bedroom opens to the spa deck and is separated from another and similar bedroom by space containing two dressing areas, one with bidet and laundry closet, both with commode, walk-in wardrobe, tiled vanity and steps to a tiled, skylighted, sunken shower room. Another bathroom and a three-car garage, exterior lights and sprinkler system add to desirability of this peaceful property. $1.5 million.
